U.S. May Change Its Hands-Off Policy Concerning Formosa

TOKYO, June 22—A possible reversal of America's hands-off Formosa policy in order to rush aid to that last-ditch Chinese Nationalist stronghold was hinted in Tokyo today by State Department Adviser John Foster Dulles.

The Republican statesman issued this significant intimation in a news conference following a 90-minute meeting with Gen. Douglas MacArthur which Dulles described as "satisfactory." The diplomat said:

"All our foreign policy is constantly under review. In general terms, this applies to Formosa also."

Dulles is touring the Far East and participating in Cold War strategy talks designed to formulate a defense plan to Asiatic military might.

In his conference with Dulles and in talks earlier this week with Defense Secretary Louis Johnson and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, MacArthur is understood to have urged immediate tangible assistance to Formosa.

The Allied commander is known to believe that the fall of the Nationalist island bastion to Chinese mainland Communist invaders would remove an important link from America's chain of Western Pacific defense and expose the Philippines to powerful Red influences.

Such an eventuality, moreover, would bring Communist military strength considerably closer to the key American outpost of Okinawa, visited and inspected today by Johnson and Bradley.

On that island, won by Americans in bloody battle during World War II, Johnson declared that the United States is determined to keep the Okinawa base for "a long time" with sufficient armed power to withstand any attack.

In Tokyo, Dulles told newsmen that America is pursuing "a definite and positive policy . . .to preserve international peace and security in the world." This, he emphasized, embraces Japan and the Far East as well as Europe and the Western Hemisphere.

Russia's refusal to cooperate in the creation of peace-preserving United Nations military forces, Dulles asserted, makes it necessary that "the whole problem of international peace and security must be re-examined, particularly in terms of countries that are demilitarized, such as Japan."

He said the question of a peace treaty with Japan or some other kind of settlement will be decided after he, Johnson and Bradley return to Washington and pool their information.

The present talks about post-treaty American bases generates a "false connotation," Dulles contended. The U. S., he explained, is not seeking "military prizes" but is considering the over-all problem of "how a country like Japan, which is totally disarmed, is going to be secure in the world of today."

Ohio Facing More Tax Or Toll Highways

Gov. Lausche Gives Opinion; Governors Give Him Top Post

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., June 22 — Governor Frank Lausche, the newly-elected chairman of the nation's governors, who rocked Ohioans Monday with an assertion he might vote for Republican Sen. Robert A. Taft, jolted them anew today with a choice of toll roads or higher gasoline taxes.

Lausche again stole the show at the 42nd annual Governors' Conference by winning unanimous election by the newly-chosen nine-member executive committee on the final day of the four-day sessions.

The chief executive, who has been shattering traditions all week, thus broke two more: The choice of an Ohioan and the choice of a governor who could become a "lame duck" as a result of the November election.

If it should happen that Lausche should be defeated by Republican State Treasurer Don H. Ebright in the election, the executive committee—of which Lausche is also a member—would elect a successor as chairman at its December meeting in Chicago.

It will be at that time the committee will pick the site for the 1952 conference.

Lausche juggled a little arithmetic to show that Ohio has only about $30 million available each year for new highway construction.

He then told the assembled governors that Ohio's need for new highways would take an estimated $2.4 billion. He added:

"It would thus take 80 years to meet even present day needs. It's obviously impossible to meet demands on present day revenues. It may be that the toll-road is the answer to the question."

Lausche, who went to Washington today to attend President Truman's luncheon for the Democratic governors, was backed in his toll-road plan by Gov. James Duff of Pennsylvania.

Ohio currently is planning a $200 million super toll highway, similar to the famed Pennsylvania Turnpike, across Northern Ohio.

Duff told the governors that the engineers had been "fabulously accurate on their estimates of revenue and traffic volume," and added that trucks paid 63 percent of the turnpike revenues. He stated:

"I am confident that, if it were not for the turnpike, Pennsylvania's other two main highways, the Lincoln and the William Penn, would have been completely destroyed by heavy trucks during the war."

Duff also said that out-of-state drivers pay 52 percent of the turnpike receipts, in addition to

Labor Tiff Injures 3

Whole Night Shift Held In Plant

MORRISTOWN, Tenn., June 22—A new outburst of violence by strikers at the American Enka rayon plant here today resulted in the shooting of three workers—one critically—and the trapping of the entire night shift at the plant.

Communications between workers and the outside world were severed completely, and two squads of state highway patrolmen were rushed to the scene from Nashville.

Only a routine staff of patrolmen including seven cars were on duty when the new incident occurred, which, according to Morristown authorities, was started when some 400 men were reported to have been brought in from Kentucky to aid the strikers.

Contacted in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., yesterday, Gov. Gordon Browning said he had been asked again to call out Tennessee's National Guard, but added, no action is being taken now.

MEANWHILE, three unidentified workers who were shot during the violence have been admitted to a Morristown hospital. The condition of one was listed as critical.

Last week state highway patrolmen from Nashville, Knoxville and Cookeville were called in to halt a dynamite attack in which no one was injured.

Late yesterday shots rang out for the first time when unidentified strikers fired .22-calibre rifle shots at a car of non-strikers as they left the plant. No one was injured.

Two members of a Senate labor subcommittee were sent to Morristown last week to investigate the labor trouble.

Franklin County Now 500,000

COLUMBUS, June 22—Preliminary census reports today showed the population of Franklin County is past the half-million mark.

Eli Barack, district census supervisor, said Columbus gained 67,734 residents in the last 10 years and the county population, excluding the city, jumped 44,489.

The preliminary count in Columbus for 1950 was 373,821 as against 306,087 in 1940. County residents beyond the corporate limits of Columbus increased from 82,625 to 127,114.

2 Housewives Beat Heat With Long Bike Trip

While most Circleville housewives sweltered over their traditionally hot stoves, Mrs. Howard Glitt of Atwater avenue and Mrs. Robert Swift of Park street embarked on a breezy 17-mile bicycle ride.

The pair, both French war brides and, naturally, accustomed to the accepted European mode of travel—the bike—left Circleville aboard their imported French bicycles early Thursday and planned to return by evening.

Mrs. Glitt and Mrs. Swift were confident of reaching their destination and returning with ease. They had tried out their stamina and endurance earlier with a trek to Ringgold.

The pair planned to visit a friend just outside Chillicothe. The round trip figures at about 34 miles.

So far, no other Circleville women have offered to forsake their hot stoves in favor of the pleasant and breezy trips with the pair.

Va., after being elected chairman of the executive committee of the conference for 1951. With him are Mrs. Lausche and Gov. Frank Carlson of Kansas, the outgoing chairman.

VOTE DUE NEXT WEEK

GOP Opposition Growing To Corporation Tax Hike

WASHINGTON, June 22 — Republican opposition to a boost in corporation levies today posed a new threat to House passage of the new tax bill which slashes excise revenues.

House Republican Leader Martin, Mass., denounced as "phony tax relief" the measure drafted by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Martin's attack on the tax bill was launched as the 25-member group met to report the measure formally to the House. Debate is scheduled to open Tuesday with the final vote taken Wednesday.

The former House speaker said the committee failed to give consumers "real tax relief" when it cut excise taxes by $1 billion a year. Martin stated:

"It's phony tax relief because they offset the excise tax cuts by raising corporation taxes. The corporations will pass on the increases by boosting the prices of their products, so the consumer will not gain anything."

Martin said the Republican policy committee will meet Friday with GOP members of the Ways and Means Committee to discuss strategy. A conference of all House Republicans will take place Monday.

THE REPUBLICAN chieftain said the GOP will probably seek to change the bill on the floor to eliminate the corporation tax boost of $433 million a year.

Martin said he will vote also against a "closed rule" which permits no amendments to be offered from the floor other than a recommittal motion just before the final vote is taken.

Committee Chairman Doughton, (D) N. C., said, however, that he will ask the rules committee Monday to send the bill to the floor under a provision barring amendments. This is the procedure normally used on revenue measures.

If the Republicans succeed in voting down the "closed rule" on the floor, the bill will then be open to all germane amendments. The last time that occurred was in 1943

2 More Claim $7,200 Find

DAYTON, June 22—Two more persons want to claim the $7,200 found Jan. 6 in an Oakwood trashcan.

To clarify the claims, the city amended its suit to determine ownership to include Mrs. John K. Napier of Ashbury, W. Va., and William E. Moss of Oceanside, Cal.

Mrs. Napier wrote that she had lost between $7,000 and $8,000 they were keeping in a shoebox about 1947. Moss, an evangelist, said the money was stolen from his room at the YMCA.

The city and the workers who found the money have also placed a claim against it.

Britain, France Map Strategy On China Issue

LAKE SUCCESS, June 22—Britain and France were reportedly in consultation today with UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie on mapping political strategy for breaking the deadlock on China.

With the United States maintaining a passive role by refusing to block the expulsion of Nationalist China from UN or the admission of Communist China by use of the veto, the final test is slated for the Security Council during July.

Pressure is mounting among that small powers and from many other directions for a vote in the Security Council on the status of Tingfu F. Tsiang before the plans for the September-December meeting of the UN Assembly are completed.

It is reasonably certain that the Soviet Union and her satellite nations will resume their seats in some 30 UN organs the moment the Nationalist delegate is dropped in each of them.

One of the urgent reasons advanced by Lie and Western delegates seeking an early solution on the Chinese issue is that any attack on Formosa by the Chinese Communists would becloud the whole UN discussion on China. The contention at Lake Success is that UN proceedings on China must be kept apart from military developments in the Far East.

Acheson Says America Will Not Accept Any Russian 'Trojan Dove'

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 22—Secretary of State Dean Acheson declared today that the United States will not accept any Soviet "Trojan dove" of peace at this stage of the Cold War.

Acheson spoke before the Harvard Alumni Association in one of many public appearances he is making to bring an understanding of foreign policy to the nation.

The secretary centered his attention primarily on the development of the Marshall Plan for European recovery, which Gen. George C. Marshall, then secretary of state, first proposed in Cambridge at Harvard's commencement exercises three years ago.

However, Acheson emphasized the part Russia and her satellites are playing in the way of making mutual understanding impossible.

Acheson also spoke emotionally on the U. S. support of the United Nations. "It is our policy to be, as Gen. Marshall put it, the first to attend at international conference tables, and the last to retire." But he added:

"UNTIL THE Soviet leaders do genuinely accept a 'live and let live' philosophy, then no approach from the free world, however imaginative, and no Trojan dove from the Communist movement, will help to resolve out mutual problems."

Acheson paid singular tribute too, to President Truman, on whose shoulders he placed full responsibility for the decisions of the Cold War. This note appeared to be aimed at any Republican move to make foreign police a campaign issue. The secretary said:

"In the period we have been discussing (for the end of the war) there have been a number of secretaries of state in this country. There has been, however, but one President. The successive decisions—and they were hard decisions—by which this policy has been developed and applied were made by the President.

"The consistency of purpose reflected in those decisions is evident to all in retrospect. They are successive signposts, with a constancy of destination."

Acheson cited these points as major developments in foreign policy since the war:

1. The development and adherence to the United Nations.

2. The Truman Doctrine of stopping Communism first set forth in the Greek-Turkish aid program.

3. The Marshall Plan, to fill the economic "vacuum" created by the war's displacements.

4. The North Atlantic Alliance and the related military aid program.

Of the last, Acheson said:

"IN THE 17 months which have passed, we have witnessd the rapid emergence of the North Atlantic community as a political reality.

"We do not arm for purposes of conquest. Our strength is a shield, which purpose is two-fold.

"First, our strength is essential to a progressive and successful resolution of the difficulties which beset the international community.

"The second purpose of our strength is to enable us to carry ahead a creative relationship with other nations of the free world.

"Democracy is a dynamic idea in the world. Many millions of people look to this community for leadership in applying both the moral and the practical ideas of Democracy to the problems which they face.

"It is our responsibility to demonstrate the unlimited creative possibilities of the Democratic process for 'better standards of life in a larger freedom' in the language of the UN charter."

Consular Aide Denies Helping Chinese Commies

WASHINGTON, June 22—John S. Service, one of the principals in the Amerasia stolen documents case, denied emphatically today that he tried to help the Chinese Communists as charged by Sen. McCarthy, (R) Wis.

Service, testifying at a Senate Loyalty Committee hearing which was thrown open at his own request, declared that instead, he tried to prevent the collapse of the Nationalist government.

The State Department consular officer, accused of attempting to "sabotage" U. S. policy in China as a wartime Far Eastern expert, issued blanket denial of the charges against him.

Committee Chairman Tydings, (D) Md., termed the hearing one in which "a man's life and reputation are at stake."

On the "policy sabotage" accusation, in which McCarthy charged that Service and others tried to throw wartime U. S. aid to Chinese Communists, Service said:

"Actually, a reading of my report will disclose that such recommendations as I have made were designed to prevent the collapse of the Chiang Kai-shek government and to resist the domination of China by the Communists."

IN HIS DEFENSE against the Amerasia magazine stolen documents accusation, Service termed himself a victim who had the "misfortune to become innocently involved."

He declared that when he met Amerasia Editor Philip Jaffe in 1945, he was under "the impression that I was meeting a journalist." Service added:

"I had no notions or reason to believe that I was meeting a man who was under constant

Jersey Truckers Wooing Public

TRENTON, N. J., June 22—Motorized "St. Bernards" are travelling the New Jersey highways today to woo public affection for truck drivers.

While the St. Bernard dogs in the Alps carry only brandy, the patrol cars aid motorists with first aid kits, blankets, fire extinguishers, flares and two-way radios. The drivers also help motorists change tires and fill empty gas tanks.

The patrol fleet was organized by the New Jersey Motor Truck Association to "overcome a definite feeling" against the truck industry.

Reichelderfer Pleads Guilty To Single Count

Former Circleville Bank Official Nelson E. Reichelderfer, accused of making false entries and embezzling $7200, changed his plea on one count Thursday in Columbus and the government dismissed the other two counts against him.

The former bank executive vice-president pleaded guilty to making a false entry amounting to $1600 and the government dismissed charges of making a $3125 false entry and embezzling another $1600.

Reichelderfer was remanded to Columbus city jail to await the report of the probation officer and sentencing.

His attorney said he expected sentence to be passed the latter part of next week.

The government's report showed that the 68-year-old former official of Circleville Savings and Banking Co. took the money over a period of years, apparently for normal living expenses.

DESCENDING into a germicide solution, a scientist-diver in a plastic suit prepares to enter a new laboratory for the raising of animals completely free of germs at Notre Dame university. 70 Defiant Witnesses Facing Contempt Action

WASHINGTON, June 22—The House UnAmerican Activities Committee today threatened contempt proceedings against 70 defiant witnesses who have hamstrung its investigation of Communist activities.

In the sternest crackdown of its history, the committee voted to cite 39 witnesses who refused to answer questions at the recent probe of Communism in Hawaii and to consider initiating similar prosecution of 31 others who have employed "constitutional" tactics to stymie hearings in Washington.

Most of the 70 refused to give information or answer questions on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

Acting Chairman Walter, (D) Pa., who headed the on-the-spot investigation of Communism in Honolulu, said he would move to have the House vote the congressional contempt citations against the 39 Hawaiian witnesses—possibly asking floor action next week.

He also announced the House probers will meet Friday to consider similar action against the 31 additional witnesses who have refused to give testimony in investigations which ranged from atomic espionage to Communist activity in labor unions in this country.

COMMITTEE Counsel Frank Tavenner was instructed to prepare the records needed to show contempt on the part of the 31 "domestic" witnesses. Rep. Velde, (R) Ill., said he would move that all of them be cited.

Contempt of Congress carries a maximum penalty of one year imprisonment and a $1,000 fine. The committee has never tested whether a witness citing possible self-incrimination as a reason

Police Start Bicycle Pickup

Two unlicensed bicycles were taken into custody Wednesday by Circleville police.

Chief Willam McCrady said that the pair of confiscated wheels were the first of many which are expected to be taken into custody because of failure to purchase tags.

"These licenses are for the owners' protection," McCrady cited. "They give us a chance to identify each licensed bicycle in case of theft."

The chief said that he has instructed his men to bring in all untagged bikes. Tags can be obtained in the police station.

U.S. May Change Its Hands-Off Policy Concerning Formosa

TOKYO, June 22—A possible reversal of America's hands-off Formosa policy in order to rush aid to that last-ditch Chinese Nationalist stronghold was hinted in Tokyo today by State Department Adviser John Foster Dulles.

The Republican statesman issued this significant intimation in a news conference following a 90-minute meeting with Gen. Douglas MacArthur which Dulles described as "satisfactory." The diplomat said:

"All our foreign policy is constantly under review. In general terms, this applies to Formosa also."

Dulles is touring the Far East and participating in Cold War strategy talks designed to formulate a defense plan to Asiatic military might.

In his conference with Dulles and in talks earlier this week with Defense Secretary Louis Johnson and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, MacArthur is understood to have urged immediate tangible assistance to Formosa.

The Allied commander is known to believe that the fall of the Nationalist island bastion to Chinese mainland Communist invaders would remove an important link from America's chain of Western Pacific defense and expose the Philippines to powerful Red influences.

Such an eventuality, moreover, would bring Communist military strength considerably closer to the key American outpost of Okinawa, visited and inspected today by Johnson and Bradley.

On that island, won by Americans in bloody battle during World War II, Johnson declared that the United States is determined to keep the Okirawa base for "a long time" with sufficient armed power to withstand any attack.

In Tokyo, Dulles told newsmen that America is pursuing "a definite and positive policy . . .to preserve international peace and security in the world." This, he emphasized, embraces Japan and the Far East as well as Europe and the Western Hemisphere.

Russia's refusal to cooperate in the creation of peace-preserving United Nations military forces, Dulles asserted, makes it necessary that "the whole problem of international peace and security must be re-examined, particularly in terms of countries that are demilitarized, such as Japan."

He said the question of a peace treaty with Japan or some other kind of settlement will be decided after he, Johnson and Bradley return to Washington and pool their information.

The present talks about post-treaty American bases generates a "false connotation," Dulles contended. The U. S., he explained, is not seeking "military prizes" but is considering the over-all problem of "how a country like Japan, which is totally disarmed, is going to be secure in the world of today."

GOP Opposition Growing To Corporation Tax Hike

WASHINGTON, June 22 — Republican opposition to a boost in corporation levies today posed a new threat to House passage of the new tax bill which slashes excise revenues.

"We do not arm for purposes of conquest. Our strength is a shield, which purpose is two-fold.

"First, our strength is essential to a progressive and successful resolution of the difficulties which beset the international community.

"The second purpose of our strength is to enable us to carry ahead a creative relationship with other nations of the free world.

"Democracy is a dynamic idea in the world. Many millions of people look to this community for leadership in applying both the moral and the practical ideas of Democracy to the problems which they face.

Consular Aide Denies Helping Chinese Commies

WASHINGTON, June 22—John S. Service, one of the principals in the Amerasia stolen documents case, denied emphatically today that he tried to help the Chinese Communists as charged by Sen. McCarthy, (R) Wis.

Service, testifying at a Senate Loyalty Committee hearing which was thrown open at his own request, declared that instead, he tried to prevent the collapse of the Nationalist government.

The State Department consular officer, accused of attempting to "sabotage" U. S. policy in China as a wartime Far Eastern expert, issued blanket denial of the charges against him.

Committee Chairman Tydings, (D) Md., termed the hearing one in which "a man's life and reputation are at stake."

On the "policy sabotage" accusation, in which McCarthy charged that Service and others tried to throw wartime U. S. aid to Chinese Communists, Service said:

"Actually, a reading of my report will disclose that such recommendations as I have made were designed to prevent the collapse of the Chiang Kai-shek government and to resist the domination of China by the Communists."

IN HIS DEFENSE against the Amerasia magazine stolen documents accusation, Service termed himself a victim who had the "misfortune to become innocently involved."

He declared that when he met Amerasia Editor Philip Jaffe in 1945, he was under "the impression that I was meeting a journalist." Service added:

"I had no notions or reason to believe that I was meeting a man who was under constant

Jersey Truckers Wooing Public

TRENTON, N. J., June 22—Motorized "St. Bernards" are travelling the New Jersey highways today to woo public affection for truck drivers.

While the St. Bernard dogs in the Alps carry only brandy, the patrol cars aid motorists with first aid kits, blankets, fire extinguishers, flares and two-way radios. The drivers also help motorists change tires and fill empty gas tanks.

The patrol fleet was organized by the New Jersey Motor Truck Association to "overcome a definite feeling" against the truck industry.

Reichelderfer Pleads Guilty To Single Count

Former Circleville Bank Official Nelson E. Reichelderfer, accused of making false entries and embezzling $7200, changed his plea on one count Thursday in Columbus and the government dismissed the other two counts against him.

The former bank executive vice-president pleaded guilty to making a false entry amounting to $1600 and the government dismissed charges of making a $3125 false entry and embezzling another $1600.

Reichelderfer was remanded to Columbus city jail to await the report of the probation officer and sentencing.

His attorney said he expected sentence to be passed the latter part of next week.

The government's report showed that the 68-year-old former official of Circleville Savings and Banking Co. took the money over a period of years, apparently for normal living expenses.

DESCENDING into a germicide solution, a scientist-diver in a plastic suit prepares to enter a new laboratory for the raising of animals completely free of germs at Notre Dame university. For the first time, scientists will be able to observe the effects of a single type, or selected combinations, of bacteria in animals that were born and raised in a thoroughly sterile environment.

70 Defiant Witnesses Facing Contempt Action

WASHINGTON, June 22—The House UnAmerican Activities Committee today threatened contempt proceedings against 70 defiant witnesses who have hamstrung its investigation of Communist activities.

In the sternest crackdown of its history, the committee voted to cite 39 witnesses who refused to answer questions at the recent probe of Communism in Hawaii and to consider initiating similar prosecution of 31 others who have employed "constitutional" tactics to stymie hearings in Washington.

Most of the 70 refused to give information or answer questions on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

Acting Chairman Walter, (D) Pa., who headed the on-the-spot investigation of Communism in Honolulu, said he would move to have the House vote the congressional contempt citations against the 39 Hawaiian witnesses—possibly asking floor action next week.

He also announced the House probers will meet Friday to consider similar action against the 31 additional witnesses who have refused to give testimony in investigations which ranged from atomic espionage to Communist activity in labor unions in this country.

COMMITTEE Counsel Frank Tavenner was instructed to prepare the records needed to show contempt on the part of the 31 "domestic" witnesses. Rep. Velde, (R) Ill., said he would move that all of them be cited.

Contempt of Congress carries a maximum penalty of one year imprisonment and a $1,000 fine. The committee has never tested whether a witness citing possible self-incrimination as a reason

Police Start Bicycle Pickup

Two unlicensed bicycles were taken into custody Wednesday by Circleville police.

Chief Willam McCrady said that the pair of confiscated wheels were the first of many which are expected to be taken into custody because of failure to purchase tags.

"These licenses are for the owners' protection," McCrady cried. "They give us a chance to identify each licensed bicycle in case of theft."

The chief said that he has instructed his men to bring in all untagged bikes. Tags can be obtained in the police station.

surveillance or suspicion of espionage."

Service was one of six persons against whom charges were presented to a federal grand jury. The grand jury failed to return an indictment against him, but three others were indicted.

Jaffe pleaded guilty and was fined $2,500. Emmanuel S. Larsen pleaded no defense and was fined $500. The indictment against Navy Lieutenant Andrew Roth was quashed.

A wrangle developed in the committee over the question of whether the hearing should be thrown open to the public or held behind closed doors. Sen. Lodge, (R) Mass., opposed a public hearing.

Tydings retorted that the committee "has no option when a man under attack requests an open hearing." He added:

"While this hearing is not a criminal trial, it has overtones that a man's life and his reputation are at stake."

Tydings apparently referred to the fact that prosecution of a person for wartime espionage is not blocked by the statute of limitations in the event such evidence should be developed in the course of the hearing.

Truman Says He Does Not Like Lausche's Stand

WASHINGTON, June 22 — President Truman strongly indicated today that he disapproves the stand taken by Democratic Governor Frank J. Lausche of Ohio on the approaching race pitting GOP Sen. Robert Taft against State Auditor Joseph Ferguson, a Democrat.

At a news conference prior to a luncheon meeting with Democratic governors led by Lausche, Mr. Truman declared that if he were an Ohioan he would vote the straight Democratic ticket and he made it clear that he would have no trouble making up his mind about it.

Lausche created a political sensation this week at the Governor's Conference in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., by praising Taft and declaring that he has not yet decided whether to vote for Ferguson or "Mr. Republican."

The governor added that in any event he would not permit party allegiance to override the nation's best interests.

Thus, observers interpreted the President's statement that he would vote the straight party ticket if he were in Ohio as a slap at Lausche.

Politics was the principal item on the menu at Mr. Truman's meeting with the Democratic governors—to which, incidentally, Govs. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Fielding Wright of Mississippi, who opposed the President in the 1948 election, were not invited.

The chief executive implied that he does not consider Thurmond and Wright genuine Democrats. They ran on the States Rights ticket.

Divorce Expert Seeks Divorce

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 22—Dougal Herr, 67, asked an annulment of his marriage to his London-born wife because she didn't like the state of New Jersey, the state of marriage and his friends.

Also, Herr told Judge Donald H. McLean, the former Louisette Hugon misrepresented herself as an heiress when she didn't have a shilling.

And the marriage was never consummated, he said.

Herr is a former New Jersey divorce court judge and author of a legal text called "Marriage, Divorce and Separation."

One of his observations was "don't propose after a sudden, chance meeting."

He married Louisette in Bermuda after a month's courtship, he said, and it took her only three days to rewrite his book.

A Murder Trial of 3,800 Years Ago

By JOHN GOETTE
Central Press Staff Writer

THE OLDEST known record of a murder trial—dating back 3,800 years—has been unearthed and translated by scholars of the Universities of Chicago and Pennsylvania.

It is incised on a clay tablet, two by four inches, taken from excavations of the Near East city of Nippur in Iraq, and discloses a highly civilized system of justice prevailed there in 1850 B. C.

Dr. Thorkild Jacobsen, of the University of Chicago, and Dr. Samuel Noah Kramer, of the University of Pennsylvania Museum, translated the tablet's unique record from its obscure cuneiform script of the Sumerian language.

These experts are two of about a dozen in America who can decipher this earliest form of writing yet discovered.

Except for one corner, the precious bit of baked clay is intact. Its missing lines were fortunately filled in from a small fragment of another copy of the same trial report found at Nippur by Pennsylvania searchers some 50 years ago. Both relics were taken from houses of the 1800 B. C. period.

Nippur, which is 100 miles south of the modern city of Bagdad, was the cultural and spiritual center of Sumer. Its schools were famous and its scholars and scientists were the most distinguished in that ancient land.

THE AMERICAN translators read in the tablet's story how in 1850 B. C. three men killed a temple official and then confessed to his wife, Nin-dada. She kept their secret until all four were turned over to the Citizens Assembly for trial by King Ur-Ninurta.

Nine members of the assembly contended that the woman, as well as the murderers, should be executed. Thereupon two other assemblymen pleaded that since she took no part in the killing, she should be spared.

The defense further argued that because the husband had not supported his wife, she was not obliged to expose the murderers. Nin-dada accordingly was acquitted while the three men were executed in front of the empty chair of their victim.

"The wife would not be guilty as an accessory after the fact under our law. An accessory after the fact must not only know the felony was committed, but must also receive, relieve, comfort or assist the felon."

Further learned legal comment on the Nippur trial comes from the law historian of the University of Chicago, Max Rheinstein. He recognizes the tablet as "significant for the light it throws on the cultural and political state of the time."

Scholars of the two American universities stress the new revelation of the democratic nature of the Nippur Citizens Assembly, which not only decided major political matters, but legal issues as well.

Excavating the ancient city of Nippur. Once the cultural center of the Land of Sumer, it is being unearthed by joint archeologist expedition.

Fire Ambulance Deal Flops; Tots Are Thankful

What appeared to be Circleville's first emergency fire department "ambulance" has been changed into a "knockabout" car.

The 1937 emergency ambulance purchased recently by Fire Chief Talmer Wise in Virginia has been sold to Joe Moats, local garage owner.

Wise said that he had hoped the city might purchase the vehicle as an emergency ambulance for the fire department, but that no action was taken.

"I couldn't have sold it to them, anyway," Wise said. "Not while I'm a city employe."

Moats, new owner of the brilliantly red vehicle, said he plans to "knock around in it some" and is thinking about "driving it north if I get time for a fishing trip this year."

The auto dealer added that the ambulance is being put to good use now by his grandsons, who take turns being "patient" and "doctor." The ambulance is fully equipped with cot, swivel chairs, flasher lights and siren.

"The kids have a circus with it," Joe checkled, adding that the lads "drive" the ambulance while it is parked.

Congress OKs Rent Controls

WASHINGTON, June 22 — President Truman's signature is all that is needed today to extend federal rent controls for another six months.

The extension bill was passed 176 to 145 by the House and 40 to 24 by the Senate and sent to the White House late yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Truman is expected to affix his signature well before the June 30 expiration deadline for the present law.

The new extension continues the federal ceilings until Dec. 31, with another extension to June 30, 1951, for those communities requesting them. About 30 million Americans are affected.

for refusing to answer questions is guilty of contempt.

The wholesale threat of action was taken yesterday when two witnesses took refuge in the self-incrimination plea to block an inquiry into an alleged Communist false passport ring.

One of them was Philip Bart, general manager of the Communist Daily Worker, who refused on constitutional grounds to say whether he ever obtained a passport under an alias.

He also flatly refused to tell the committee — without citing constitutional grounds whatsoever—what his name was before he legally changed it.

Wayward Mate Aided Again By Loyal Wife

Charles H. Lavache, serving a six months term for larceny and possession of narcotics, was released when he pleaded that there was no one else to attend to his wife's burial.

Lavache, a printer, was found guilty last August of stealing a radio. Mrs. Ruth Lavache appeared in court, to tell how she was suffering from cancer and pleaded against a jail term.

Judge Daniel J. Gillen placed Lavache on probation.

Lavache had two months to serve of the six months term on his latest violation when Mrs. Lavache died—alone.

Out of respect to the wife, Judge Joseph Riley extended Lavache's probation period to Dec. 20, making him eligible for immediate release.

Funeral Directors Ending Confab

CLEVELAND, June 22—Nearly 3,000 funeral directors from throughout Ohio conclude their 70th annual convention here today.

Jerry G. Spears of Columbus was elected president of the group in yesterday's session. He succeeds J. A. Shaidnagle Jr. of Massillon.

The delegates also approved a five-point code of ethics for the profession. The code sets ethical standards, binding on the members, relating to their professional responsibilities to the public.

Columbus was selected as the convention city for 1951.

Cincy Commies Facing Probe

WASHINGTON, June 22 — A certified public accountant is to check today more than 10,000 signatures of Cincinnati residents calling for a House Un-American Activities Committee hearing on Communist activities in Cincinnati and the rest of Ohio.

The signatures were delivered Tuesday in Washington. After the check, they will be turned over to Rep. John S. Wood, (D) Ga., chairman of the committee, for further action.

Cecil Scott, former Federal Bureau of Investigation undercover agent, would be the key witness to appear before the committee in the event of an investigation.

5 Building Permits Issued By City Panel

Circleville building and planning commission has issued five permits for new construction in the city. The permits were issued to:

Richard W. Penn of Columbus to construct a house estimated to cost $11,000 in Spring Hollow Addition.

Kenneth E. and Mabel Baldwin to erect a $2,500 house at the rear of their residenc on 227 Town street.

M. S. Ammer to build a $2,000 home on 141 Pleasant street.

Bixer Allen of 229 East Watt street to construct a small back porch.

The G. and G. Construction Company to build a $10,000 home and garage on Collins Court. The company is operated by George Speakman and Gail Barthelmas.

Unwed Mothers Cut Off Relief

ELYRIA, June 22—Unwed mothers were cut off the Lorain County relief rolls today.

Probate Judge Malcolm Thompson ruled that a husbandless mother of two children was not a ward of the welfare board and that the child welfare agency should assume no responsibility for her care.

The ruling marked another victory for Welfare Director Floyd L. Woodridge who has attempted to pare relief costs. Woodridge said the relief payments were "like giving those women a pat on the back."

when the Ruml pay-as-you-go tax plan was adopted.

Doughton told a reporter that he will support the bill on the floor. There had been some question whether he would because of his vote against the corporation tax boost. The increase was supported by 14 of the 15 Democrats, with Doughton joining the 10 Republicans in oppositon.

The corporation tax increase would be applicable to the current calendar year. Corporations making $167,000 or more a year would have their taxes raised by $708 million annually, while business firms making $5,000 to $167,000 would benefit $275 million annually.

Cop Has Heard Them All Now

CLEVELAND, June 22—Robert Barens, a motorcycle patrol-1-18 bod—DIVORCE Mark man, attempted to stop a Lakewood woman for breaking the speed limit yesterday, but she fled away faster than ever.

Barens blew his siren, but the female motorist stepped on the accelerator. Every time the patrolman blew his siren the woman went faster until she was going 60 miles an hour down a main thoroughfare.

Finally, after Barens forced her to the curb, he walked to her car, only to be greeted with:

"My gosh, I was trying to get out of your way."

Things Better All The Time

COLUMBUS, June 22 — The Ohio State university's Bureau of Business Research, which in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics surveyed 6,000 Ohio firms, reported today that, from March to April, average weekly earnings rose one percent to $56.50; employment was up two percent, and payrolls and man-hours worked up three percent.

Compared with April of 1949, earnings were up five percent and payrolls up three percent.

A Murder Trial of 3,800 Years Ago

By JOHN GOETTE
Central Press Staff Writer

THE OLDEST known record of a murder trial—dating back 3,800 years—has been unearthed and translated by scholars of the Universities of Chicago and Pennsylvania.

It is incised on a clay tablet, two by four inches, taken from excavations of the Near East city of Nippur in Iraq, and discloses a highly civilized system of justice prevailed there in 1850 B. C.

Dr. Thorkild Jacobsen, of the University of Chicago, and Dr. Samuel Noah Kramer, of the University of Pennsylvania Museum, translated the tablet's unique record from its obscure cuneiform script of the Sumerian language.

These experts are two of about a dozen in America who can decipher this earliest form of writing yet discovered.

Except for one corner, the precious bit of baked clay is intact. Its missing lines were fortunately filled in from a small fragment of another copy of the same trial report found at Nippur by Pennsylvania searchers some 50 years ago. Both relics were taken from houses of the 1800 B. C. period.

Nippur, which is 100 miles south of the modern city of Bagdad, was the cultural and spiritual center of Sumer. Its schools were famous and its scholars and scientists were the most distinguished in that ancient land.

THE AMERICAN translators read in the tablet's story how in 1850 B. C. three men killed a temple official and then confessed to his wife, Nin-dada. She kept their secret until all four were turned over to the Citizens Assembly for trial by King Ur-Ninurta.

Nine members of the assembly contended that the woman, as well as the murderers, should be executed. Thereupon two other assemblymen pleaded that since she took no part in the killing, she should be spared.

The defense further argued that because the husband had not supported his wife, she was not obliged to expose the murderers. Nin-dada accordingly was acquitted while the three men were executed in front of the empty chair of their victim.

"The wife would not be guilty as an accessory after the fact under our law. An accessory after the fact must not only know the felony was committed, but must also receive, relieve, comfort or assist the felon."

Further learned legal comment on the Nippur trial comes from the law historian of the University of Chicago, Max Rheinstein. He recognizes the tablet as "significant for the light it throws on the cultural and political state of the time."

Scholars of the two American universities stress the new revelation of the democratic nature of the Nippur Citizens Assembly, which not only decided major political matters, but legal issues as well.

Excavating the ancient city of Nippur. Once the cultural center of the Land of Sumer, it is being unearthed by joint archeologist expedition.

The Nippur tablet — it measures only four inches long by two wide.

Fire Ambulance Deal Flops; Tots Are Thankful

What appeared to be Circleville's first emergency fire department "ambulance" has been changed into a "knockabout" car.

The 1937 emergency ambulance purchased recently by Fire Chief Talmer Wise in Virginia has been sold to Joe Moats, local garage owner.

Wise said that he had hoped the city might purchase the vehicle as an emergency ambulance for the fire department, but that no action was taken.

"I couldn't have sold it to them, anyway," Wise said. "Not while I'm a city employe."

Moats, new owner of the brilliantly red vehicle, said he plans to "knock around in it some" and is thinking about "driving it north if I get time for a fishing trip this year."

The auto dealer added that the ambulance is being put to good use now by his grandsons, who take turns being "patient" and "doctor." The ambulance is fully equipped with cot, swivel chairs, flasher lights and siren.

"The kids have a circus with it," Joe checkled, adding that the lads "drive" the ambulance while it is parked.

Congress OKs Rent Controls

WASHINGTON, June 22 — President Truman's signature is all that is needed today to extend federal rent controls for another six months.

The extension bill was passed 176 to 145 by the House and 40 to 24 by the Senate and sent to the White House late yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Truman is expected to affix his signature well before the June 30 expiration deadline for the present law.

The new extension continues the federal ceilings until Dec. 31, with another extension to June 30, 1951, for those communities requesting them. About 30 million Americans are affected.

for refusing to answer questions is guilty of contempt.

The wholesale threat of action was taken yesterday when two witnesses took refuge in the self-incrimination plea to block an inquiry into an alleged Communist false passport ring.

One of them was Philip Bart, general manager of the Communist Daily Worker, who refused on constitutional grounds to say whether he ever obtained a passport under an alias.

He also flatly refused to tell the committee — without citing constitutional grounds whatsoever—what his name was before he legally changed it.

5 Building Permits Issued By City Panel

Circleville building and planning commission has issued five permits for new construction in the city. The permits were issued to:

Richard W. Penn of Columbus to construct a house estimated to cost $11,000 in Spring Hollow Addition.

Kenneth E. and Mabel Baldwin to erect a $2,500 house at the rear of their residenc on 227 Town street.

M. S. Ammer to build a $2,000 home on 141 Pleasant street.

Bixer Allen of 229 East Watt street to construct a small back porch.

The G. and G. Construction Company to build a $10,000 home and garage on Collins Court. The company is operated by George Speakman and Gail Barthelmas.

Unwed Mothers Cut Off Relief

ELYRIA, June 22—Unwed mothers were cut off the Lorain County relief rolls today.

Probate Judge Malcolm Thompson ruled that a husbandless mother of two children was not a ward of the welfare board and that the child welfare agency should assume no responsibility for her care.

The ruling marked another victory for Welfare Director Floyd L. Woodridge who has attempted to pare relief costs. Woodridge said the relief payments were "like giving those women a pat on the back."

Wayward Mate Aided Again By Loyal Wife

BOSTON, June 22—A woman cancer victim who twice left a sickbed and won mercy for her wayward husband gained his freedom from jail today by her death.

Charles H. Lavache, serving a six months term for larceny and possession of narcotics, was released when he pleaded that there was no one else to attend to his wife's burial.

Lavache, a printer, was found guilty last August of stealing a radio. Mrs. Ruth Lavache appeared in court, to tell how she was suffering from cancer and pleaded against a jail term.

Judge Daniel J. Gillen placed Lavache on probation.

Lavache had two months to serve of the six months term on his latest violation when Mrs. Lavache died—alone.

Out of respect to the wife, Judge Joseph Riley extended Lavache's probation period to Dec. 20, making him eligible for immediate release.

Funeral Directors Ending Confab

Jerry G. Spears of Columbus was elected president of the group in yesterday's session. He succeeds J. A. Shaidnagle Jr. of Massillon.

The delegates also approved a five-point code of ethics for the profession. The code sets ethical standards, binding on the members, relating to their professional responsibilities to the public.

Columbus was selected as the convention city for 1951.

Cincy Commies Facing Probe

WASHINGTON, June 22 — A certified public accountant is to check today more than 10,000 signatures of Cincinnati residents calling for a House Un-American Activities Committee hearing on Communist activities in Cincinnati and the rest of Ohio.

The signatures were delivered Tuesday in Washington. After the check, they will be turned over to Rep. John S. Wood, (D) Ga., chairman of the committee, for further action.

Cecil Scott, former Federal Bureau of Investigation undercover agent, would be the key witness to appear before the committee in the event of an investigation.

GOP Opposition Growing To Corporation Tax Hike

when the Ruml pay-as-you-go tax plan was adopted.

Doughton told a reporter that he will support the bill on the floor. There had been some question whether he would because of his vote against the corporation tax boost. The increase was supported by 14 of the 15 Democrats, with Doughton joining the 10 Republicans in opposiiton.

The corporation tax increase would be applicable to the current calendar year. Corporations making $167,000 or more a year would have their taxes raised by $708 million annually, while business firms making $5,000 to $167,000 would benefit $275 million annually.

Cop Has Heard Them All Now

CLEVELAND, June 22—Robert Barens, a motorcycle patrol-1-18 bod—DIVORCE Mark man, attempted to stop a Lakewood woman for breaking the speed limit yesterday, but she fled away faster than ever.

Barens blew his siren, but the female motorist stepped on the accelerator. Every time the patrolman blew his siren the woman went faster until she was going 60 miles an hour down a main thoroughfare.

Finally, after Barens forced her to the curb, he walked to her car, only to be greeted with:

Things Better All The Time

COLUMBUS, June 22 — The Ohio State university's Bureau of Business Research, which in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics surveyed 6,000 Ohio firms, reported today that, from March to April, average weekly earnings rose one percent to $56.50; employment was up two percent, and payrolls and man-hours worked up three percent.

Compared with April of 1949, earnings were up five percent and payrolls up three percent.

Bond Drive Hits 40 Pct. Of Quota

$28,199 Invested By County So Far

Pickaway County has invested $28,199 or 40 percent of its quota in the current Independence Savings Bond drive.

The campaign, which ends July 4, calls upon this county to buy $70,000 in U. S. Savings Bonds, according to Judge William D. Radcliff, local drive chairman.

Meanwhile, it was reported that 23 of the 88 Ohio counties are over the state average of 42 percent in sales.

As of Thursday, Greene County ranked first in the state with 94.8 percent of quota. In the preceding reporting period Greene had ranked 10th with Vinton in first place. Sales for the week ending June 10 reversed their positions. The top ten counties are Greene, Morgan, Clinton, Fayette, Delaware, Montgomery, Athens, Holmes, Ross and Vinton.

THIS WEEK'S report also showed that Montgomery County, which led the nation's metropolitan counties in last year's Opportunity Bond Drive in percentage of quota, again was leading Ohio's larger counties with 54.8 percent of its quota. A comparison with the performance of other metropolitan counties outside the state was not immediately available.

Of the eight large city counties, Montgomery moved up from seventh place to first while Cuyahoga dropped from third to sixth. The ranking of the eight metropolitan counties was: Montgomery, Mahoning, Lucas, Hamilton, Stark, Cuyahoga, Summit and Franklin.

Earlier this week it was announced that Ohio ranked eighth in the Nation in percentage of quota attained as of June 10. With sales of $16,321,740 in E-Bonds, 42 percent of the quota of $38,839,000 has been reached.

99 Million Pig Crop Predicted

WASHINGTON, June 22—The Agriculture Department today forecast a 1950 pig crop of 99 million head.

TO PAMPER porkers and steers with plenty of corn . . . to cater to the tastes of calves and lambs, too?

TO TRIM excess waste and fat with extra care and skill so you'll get a maximum of good eating for your money?

TO TAKE only a small profit per pound in order to give you meats of outstanding quality that are grand values, too?

You Bet It Does!..

More Than 2,000,000 Contented Customers Buy "Super-Right" Meats at A&P Every Day!

Corn-fed pork and beef, milk-fed veal, and well nourished lamb are just about the tenderest, tastiest, juiciest meats you ever ate. They're the only kind A&P's experts select for our "Super-Right" Meat Departments, so it's not surprising that contented customers keep coming back for more. It pays A&P to sell only "Super-Right" meats and, what's more important, it pays A&P customers to buy them.

PUCO HEARS COMPLAINTS

Ohio Associated Target Of Phone Rate Hike Raps

COLUMBUS, June 22 — More than a dozen persons representing hundreds of subscribers complained to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio yesterday about everything they could think of concerning the Ohio Associated Telephone Co.

More testimony is expected later in hearing on the firm's request for rate increases ranging from five to 100 pecent for exchanges in 62 of Ohio's 88 counties.

Company witnesses told the commission the increases would yield about $900,000 additional revenue per year and would be used to finance the company's 1950-52 construction program.

The subscribers complained about local and long distance service, obsolete equipment and conduct of local operators. They objected to cross-talk and noise on the lines, delays and overloaded lines.

The witnesses included P. E. Rich of Senecaville Board of Trade; Senecaville Mayor Clifford Orvil, Beverly Businessman G. D. Leckron; Beverly Banker L. H. Cronin; Buffalo Postmaster E. G. Blair; Lower Salem Bank Cashier Coy K. Whetstone; Lower Salem Merchant Everett D. Wagner; Plain City Mayor Clyde C. Loomis, Plain City Businessman Parker Adkins, and Abner Miller, a farmer of near Plain City.

Adkins is chairman of a mayor's committee formed to secure better telephone service. Like many of the other witnesses, he said he would not protest the rate increase provided there were guarantees th service would be improved. However, Adkins remarked that "the general public was outraged. . . ready to throw their telephones in the creek" when they heard there was to be a rate increase.

Adkins cited the case of an elevator operator who has 12 other parties on his business line and said:

"I don't think he appreciates holding up long-distance business calls while some woman discusses her chickens."

He denied a statement by Company Attorney Don C. Power that there had been an improvement in service during the last three weeks.

He also objected to the fact that Plain City residents get no free calls outside their own immediate vicinity. He pointed out that Plain City is in the unfortunate position of being located at the meeting point of four counties.

Whetstone agreed with Power that there is no mechanical trouble in the Plain City area because of a new plant there. However, he said the area still is served by crank-type telephones and that many of the telephone poles are falling down.

Whetstone and Orvil both complained that many operators do not pay the proper attention to their business and criticized the company for not paying higher wages. They said that competent personnel could not be secured for the low wages the company pays.

Whetstone also objected to the fact that he can call only about 120 other stations free of charge. He said this was not enough to justify even the present rates, let alone any increase.

Inmate Sure Of Death, Taxes, Alimony

NEW YORK, June 22—For Camilo Leyra Jr., who is awaiting execution in Sing Sing prison, three—not two—things are inevitable: Death, taxes and alimony.

New York Supreme Court Justice Aaron Steuer ordered Leyra to pay $30 a week alimony to Lillian Cavanagh Leyra who married him in 1921 and divorced him in 1939.

Leyra was found guilty of the murder of his aged parents and sentenced to die in the electric chair July 6. However, an automatic review of the case by the state court of appeals will postpone the execution.

Leyra's present wife, Dorothy, 27, has remained steadfast in standing by him.

Justice Steuer pointed out that alimony was not mentioned in Lillian's original decree because Leyra was then in jail on a bigamy charge and not supporting himself.

He noted, however, that Leyra now reportedly owns $15,000 worth of machinery and is technically heir to his parents' $15,000 estate.

Cleveland Sneer Given Baltimore

CLEVELAND, June 22—"Hmph!" says Mayor Thomas A. Burke of Cleveland.

The mayor is "Hmphing" over Baltimore's claim to the Sixth City title in view of estimates that the Maryland city will have a population of between 980,000 and 985,000, well above Cleveland's announced 909,546.

"My good friend, Baltimore's mayor, Thomas d'Alesandro Jr.," Burke said, "knows Baltimore still has a few hundred thousand to go to catch up to us as a metropolitan community."

U.S. Farm Chiefs Say Europe Due For Big Strides

WASHINGTON, June 22—Four farm organization leaders visiting Europe say that agricultural production in European countries is expected to reach 15 percent higher than prewar levels by 1952.

They report that farm production already is up to the prewar levels. Prospects for 1951 are bright and the 1952 production goal "is approximately 15 percent above the prewar level."

The representatives of the farmers organizations visited several European countries and attended the International Federation of Agricultural Producers in Sweden.

They say that industrial production in Europe has been restored to a level approximately 25 percent above prewar. But agricultural recovery "is necessarily slower" because of its reliance on nature.

With farm production at 15 percent above prewar levels, the farm leaders say, food output will just about keep pace with the growing population which increased 10 percent above prewar levels in the last 10 years.

The spokesmen say that Europe's comparatively quick recovery from the ravages of the recent war is mostly due to American aid through the Marshall Plan.

Misses Target; Trouble Anyhow

LIMA, June 22—It was Forest Lee Johnson's lack of marksmanship that got him into trouble.

But if he had hit the mark he would have been just as bad off.

Twenty-three-year - old Johnson is to appear Friday in Lima municipal court for a preliminary hearing on two charges of shooting with intent to wound.

Police said Johnson actually missed his target—Joseph Washington. But, according to polce, Johnson's shotgun blast hit three other persons. They were hospitalized. Johnson pleaded not guilty yesterday when he faced the charges.

Spanish Vets Tap Daytonian

COLUMBUS, June 22—David Mitchell of Dayton today is the new commander of the Ohio department, United Spanish War Veterans.

Mitchell was named here yesterday at the closing session of the organization's 52nd encampment. He succeeds Hugh F. Fiebig of Cleveland. Myrtle Shell of Zanesville was named president of the Spanish War Veterans' auxiliary. She succeeds Elsie McCracken of Cleveland.

100,000 Children Said To Have Syphilis In U.S.

WASHINGTON, June 22—Top government health experts estimated today that 100,000 children in the United States ten years of age or under have undiscovered syphilis.

The shocking number of undetected syphilis cases are estimated in an article written by Dr. Betty Huse of the Children's Bureau and Dr. W. H. Aufranc of the Public Health Service. The article appears in the Children's Bureau monthly publication, "The Child."

Technically called congenital syphilis, the disease makes any one of these children a "candidate for blindness, mental deficiency, physical deformity or premature death," according to the article.

It adds that "not one of them should have been born with syphilis. This is especially so now since penicillin, so effective in the treatment of the disease, has been widely available in recent years."

Both doctors blamed negligence alone for the prevalence of this type of syphilis.

In an accompanying article, Katharine F. Lenroot, chief of the Children's Bureau, points out that the rate of acquired syphilis in the U. S. has been cut in half during the last four years while the rate of congential syphilis has remained almost constant.

DRIVING TESTS

THE OHIO Highway Patrol has tightened its requirements for acquiring driving licenses. The applicant must first take a written examination covering ten questions as to correct driving procedures. He must make at least 70 percent on that test. Then he must take visual tests, first reading signs on the road ahead, then reading from a card. If he fails these he must see an oculist and he gets another chance after he has new glasses. Then he must take the actual driving test which has 41 points. He must park in a space 23 feet long, parallel to the curb, without bumping the car ahead or behind, without too much maneuvering, or hitting or running over the curb.

Loud have been the howls of those who have failed. They get little sympathy from members of the highway patrol. These tests make better drivers, they say, and who can deny it?

Every state should have tests at least as hard as these. Some already have them. Some are extremely lax and should tighten. All should make sure not only that new applicants take them and pass them, but that all drivers should be required to repeat them at intervals of a few years. Anything can happen to a driver's eyes or mind or muscular control. A poor driver is a menace to all.

TENNIS FOR THE YOUNG

CITIES worring about juvenile delinquency might find the remedy in more tennis courts. It is amazing how few there are in many communities. Cleveland with a population of 1,000,000 has only 100 public courts. Several of these are not kept up, and are available only in name. A suburb of 30,000 has one publicly owned double court. Another suburb with 40,000 inhabitants and still another with more than 20,000 are totally without courts, good or bad.

A few suburbs are better provided. They face the difficulty of having an influx of people from outside whose own communities fail to give them legitimate park and playground service.

Youngsters and young people find few games more fascinating than tennis, or better qualified to let them work off their animal spirits. Purely as a matter of hardened self-interest cities should build more tennis courts.

The trouble with many people, in this day and time, is that they are perfectly willing to be neighbors to the people of Africa, India and Asia but unwilling to be neighbors at home.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Not yet 50, Tom Dewey has had one of the most picturesque careers ever to be the lot of a small town boy who made the grade in the world's largest city. Coming from Owosso, Mich., the son of a newspaperman, Dewey had been brought up in the moderate circumstances of Middle Western families and he terminates his political career in the same economic circumstances.

Dewey has been able to do little more than pay as he went in an era when small fry turn themselves into rich men with every whirl of the game of politics. The financial problem of living up to one's position without the means to do it can become a very practical one for a person who takes family responsibility seriously.

Dewey's personality is not such as wins people to him easily. He is not the most warm-hearted and cordial of men, and in the arrangement of his political career, he has been too rigid for the hail-fellow-well-met traditions of our people. Nevertheless, his 'team,'' as it has been called, of extraordinarily capable men has remained with him throughout his career, all of them at great personal sacrifice, and all of them coming out of positions of temptation and opportunity without scandal. That has been public service at its best, and has undoubtedly been the keystone of Dewey's success.

Dewey's pre-eminence has been as an administrator rather than as a politician. He has been governor of New York state two terms of four years each and has given a difficult and intricate governmental and social structure the best administration it has ever known. Even his political enemies concede his vast abilities as an executive.

Twice nominated for the presidency, he was twice defeated, the second time unnecessarily, as most students of the problem assert. Although he is the titular head of the Republican Party, he has no great personal following within it. Yet, because of his unusual administrative abilities, he is admired without being beloved. His influence may be greater as a private citizen than it has been as a governor speaking on international problems.

His unwillingness to run for reelection as governor of New York, in a year when his reelection is certain, is the culmination of illness, of fatigue, and of the profits of honesty. Dewey cannot, out of his wages as a public official, provide adequately for his family. This is true of so many men in public life;

Unfortunately, the Republicans do not have a strong candidate to replace Dewey. The lieutenant-governor, Joe Hanley, age 74, is a charming personality, a good campaigner and popular among those who know him. He might make the grade.

The Democrats have a horde of candidates, including Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., Oscar Ewing, the socialized medicine man; Judge Ferdinand Pecora, Judge Charles Froessel, both popular and suitable candidates; Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York, an inexplicable phenomenon who does everything wrong and remains politically potent; and James A. Farley, who can be elected by merely announcing that he is a candidate.

The Republicans face a problem in this galaxy which they cannot take in their stride. They will have to do more than work hard to hold New York state.

New Uses of X-Ray and Radium

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE scope of X-ray and radium has constantly been enlarged so that today irradiation in these two forms is being successfully used in the treatment of a large number of different conditions. In some cases it is the best method; in other disorders, it is a useful aid to other forms of treatment.

Though the average person does not realize it, irradiation has proved valuable in dealing with certain types of infection. Just how it works is not known, but the general opinion is that by destroying the white blood cells known as lymphocytes, it liberates substances with germ-killing powers. It also increases the flow of blood to the affected part, always a helpful measure in overcoming infection.

Among the infections in which irradiation is helpful are boils and carbuncles, pimples, eczema, ringworm of the scalp, and sinus infection.

Early Treatment

It has been noted that carbuncles, when treated early by irradiation, may be entirely warded off. Carbuncles commonly occur on the back of the neck in the deeper portions of the tissues under the skin. But, in all cases, the irradiation relieves pain and speeds up healing.

The irradiation is also helpful in controlling acute infections of the parotid glands located just below the ear. These are the glands which produce saliva. It is also the best form of treatment for tubercular infections of the lymph glands in the neck.

Irradiation has also been found useful in the treatment of bursitis, the inflammation which so often occurs in the bursa, or fluid-containing sacs which cushion the joints. Often lime salts may be deposited in the bursa as a result of the inflammation.

Useful for Neuritis

X-ray treatment is useful for neuritis and neuralgia, and has also been used with benefit in some cases of arthritis or inflammation of the joints.

X-ray treatment to get rid of enlarged tonsils and overgrowths of lymphoid tissues in the throat has been found quite successful, particularly when surgery cannot be satisfactorily carried out.

Certain moles and warts and overgrowths of scar tissue, known as keloids, can be satisfactorily treated with X-ray.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

F. P.: My tongue is often coated and I am bothered with frequent belching. A test indicated lack of hydrochloric acid. Is this a symptom of stomach disorder?

Answer: Hypoacidity is a symptom that may occur in various conditions, most of them not serious. It is also found in severe anemia and following any severe infection. Pernicious anemia is accompanied by a lack of acid in the stomach, as is cancer of the stomach.

SHADOW on the RANGE

SYNOPSIS

Dr. Brian Ives returns to Tamerlane, frontier town of the Old West. Colonel Carradine, once his benefactor, needs him. Ives is ordered to "get out" by blonde giant Cory Lund, but Marco Stole, an old acquaintance, intervenes.

CHAPTER TWO

CORY picked his hat from where it had fallen, and his gaze held the piled-up hatred of these past few moments. He looked at Ives and said, "I've been pushed before. I've always found the time and place to push back. That goes for you, and it goes for Colonel Carradine, when you see him."

Ives said, "I'll tell him that."

Cory turned on his heel and strode away, the two wordlessly following after him. Ives looked for the square-cut man in the doorway; he had vanished. From the window, Stoll said, "Come on up and pass the time of day, Doc. You remember the lay-out? The stairs are at the back of the drug store."

Ives said, "I'll find them."

He came across the street and entered the drug store; here was something out of his own way of life, and in the cool darkness of the place he again found the old and remembered, and something else as well, something that erased what had happened just now, something that said: "You are Brian Ives, physician and surgeon, a man who knows only the violence wrought by others, having no personal part in it yourself."

A clerk, pimpled and adolescent, was behind the counter, and to him Ives nodded, skirting the shelves and knowing what they held without looking. Prussian Worm Powder, for horses. Sal-Vet, the cow remedy. Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy. Thus could the needs of the three be attended to; and there were the bottled medicines and the vari-colored glass jars with the ingredients that made up into prescriptions. Ives swung past these and ascended the stairs, and Marco Stoll met him with a plump hand extended and said again, "Howdy, Doc. Welcome home."

The living quarters of the man were over-furnished and repulsive with mohair, a marble-topped table centering the room with a chessboard laid out; but it was the man, Marco Stoll, who filled the cramped space. He wasn't tall, no more than five feet seven; but his girth was enormous, and he crowded his clothes and waddled when he walked. He waved Ives to a chair and took one for himself and said, "Whatever fetched you back here, Doc? It's been ten years, hasn't it?"

"Ten," Ives said. "One year knocking about. One year reading medicine under a preceptor who took a fancy to me in Wyoming. Reading medicine! Most of my time was spent with a broom. Two years in medical school. The last few I've been practicing in Oregon."

"Like that country?"

Ives shrugged. "It's something like Montana. Only the sagebrush grows higher. And there are lava caves. And the mountains and the prairies seem to blend into one." He looked through the open window; he could see across a rooftop; he could see the shadowy lift of the Sombra Hills, and not until then was he glad to be back.

Stoll burrowed deeper into his chair. "You've built up a nice practice?"

"It takes in a lot of country," Ives said. "I'm a saddlebag sawbones who spends more time riding than counting pulses. And sometimes I take my pay in potatoes."

He felt Stoll's eyes on the shabby Prince Albert, and his thought was that he wasn't fooling this man; Stoll could read what there was to read, and Ives said defensively, "I like it. A city practice would stifle a range-reared man."

"Yes," Stoll said, "you had elbow room on the Hammer, and that would have become habit with you. You didn't say why you came back."

There was Stoll's question again; and into Ives came a faint animosity at this persistence, and the first speculation as to whether more than curiosity prompted it. He looked at Stoll with a man's eyes; Ives had been a fifteen-year-old when last he'd seen Stoll, and he saw that there was a greater depth to Stoll than he'd previously perceived. The man had the twang of cattledom to his speech, yet he was using another language now, and Ives guessed that Stoll had still a third for the talking a man does within himself. He recalled vaguely that Stoll had long ago been a cowboy; he had come up from Texas with the great influx, and that seemed incongruous when you tried picturing Stoll on a horse. Stoll's question still hung in the air, and Ives was remembering that Stoll had likely saved his life.

"Tana sent for me," he said.

Stoll raised his eyebrows; they were dust-colored, giving him a naked look. "So—?" he said and was reflective for a moment. "She comes in sometimes. It's through her that I kept track of you." He smiled. "And now it's Doctor Ives."

"I had a little trouble getting used to it myself," Ives said.

"Tana told you of the trouble?"

Again that faint animosity touched Ives' nerves, but he said, "The colonel is getting old. And cantankerous. Tana thought I could be of help to him. Yes, she hinted of trouble." He gestured toward the street. "Apparently she knew what she was talking about. Who was that young fire-eater?"

"Cory Lund," Stoll said. "There are a lot of nesters along the upper Sombra. An oldster who looks as though he stepped right out of the Old Testament is the leader of them. Elisha Lund. He believes that a soft answer turneth away wrath. Young Cory, his cub, hasn't lived long enough to learn that."

"He had me rigged good and tight," Ives said. "Across the street was a square-cut fellow with a pair of shoulders that would do credit to an ox."

Stoll frowned. "That would be Brule. He's a saddle-bum who drifted in. I can't believe he'd be sitting in on Cory's game."

"Old Charley recognized me earlier," Ives mused. "He went legging it to spread the word. I suppose that's what set this Cory prowling for me. But how do I count in his scheme of things?"

"Colonel Carradine is crowding the nesters, Doc. It's the old, old story of big rancher and small rancher, except that the colonel can't see that his fight is lost before it starts. Washington has grown tired of the antics of big operators who think they're lords of the earth because they happened to be here first. The day of the open range is over. The law favors the covered wagon over the chuck-wagon any day. But Carradine's talking of importing gunmen and making a wholesale clean-up. It could be Johnson County all over again. Carradine should have learned a lesson from Wyoming."

Ives said slowly, "So that's what Tana was worrying about."

Stoll said, "You don't owe a thing to Colonel Carradine. Yes, he raised you, and he educated you after a fashion. But it was bitter bread he gave you to eat. And you just about worked your way through medical school. All the help you ever got from him you paid for in sweat before you left Hammer."

Ives said sharply, "You seem to know a great deal about it."

Stoll gestured toward the window. "In my hours off, I sit there. I see what goes on in Tamerlane. Quite a name for a cowtown, isn't it? There's my balcony seat to this section of the world. The rest of the time I'm behind a counter. People talk. I listen. And I always had my eye on you, Doc. Maybe I felt sorry for you when you were a youngster. Maybe you were worth watching. I'm proud of you."

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

IT HAPPENED TODAY

1673 — Jacques Marquette and Louis Joliet, first white men in Ohio, made peace with Indians. 1937 — Joe Louis won heavyweight boxing championship by knocking out James J. Braddock. 1940 — France and Germany signed French surrender treaty at Compiegne. 1941 — German armies launched attack on Russia in World War II.

YOUR FUTURE

Good indications prevail. Make the most of them. Increased finances should materialize in the year just starting. Moderate good fortune should follow the child born today.

FOLKS OF FAME—GUESS THE NAME

1—We do not know the exact date of his birth, but it is thought it occurred in the year 1398. He is also believed to have been born in Mainz, Germany. In Strasbourg, in 1438, he formed a partnership with three other men to do printing. In 1840 he is known to have borrowed money to make the "tools" of his craft. He is presumed to have begun a large folio Bible, to have printed some smaller books and a Letter of Indulgence, in 1451, several copies of which are preserved in European libraries. His first printing was from wooden blocks. A Latin Bible was thought to be his and called the Mazarin Bible, because the first copy was found in Cardinal Mazarin's library. He is considered the strongest claimant to the honor of the invention of movable type. A rare Bible bears his name. He is thought to have died at Mainz at the beginning of 1468. Who was he?

2—There was a time when this motion picture director's face was "as well known as the man in the moon," according to a studio directory. He was born in St. Louis, Mo., and after college, became a stage actor in a stock company under the Frohman management, and that of other well-known producers. He also starred in a production of The Violation. He starred on the screen for eight years in such old-time pictures as Dwelling Place of Light, Thirteen Pieces of Silver, The Cheater, Lovely Mary, etc. For one studio he played in over 300 pictures. He directed Moonlight Follies, The Girl Who Knew All About Men, Nobody's Fool, Human Hearts, Kentucky Derby, Gaiety Girl, Raffles, Tumbleweeds, and many more. Can some of you older screen fans give us his name?

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

Mel Heimer

NEW YORK—It had been some time since I saw Swifty O'Brien, the pride of the poolrooms, so I tracked him down to the Stage delicatessen, where he was munching meditatively on a hot pastrami sandwich, and asked him what plans he was making to get out of New York now that the dog days were approaching. This, as you may have heard, is without a doubt the worst city in the world in which to spend summer. There is no second.

"Dog days," Swifty repeated, "—listen, every day is dog day to me. I pick the best dogs out at Belmont and they run like sausages. Without legs."

"Sausages with legs, I got to see," I said, lapsing into the O'Brien idiom. "No, seriously, Swifty, how do you beat the heat in Manhattan? Do you go to the mountings for the summer, or take the baths at Saratoga? Or perhaps you go north for the hunting?"

"There are baths at Saratoga?" he asked, lifting his eloquent eyebrows. "I been going there for 20 years, and there ain't no bath in the room I get at the Grand Union. Only a shower, down the hall. And for this I pay six bucks a day."

"Don't you feel the heat in New York on some of those humid days, when the steam rises from the East and North rivers?" I asked him. "Doesn't your collar wilt and your spirits sag?"

"Who goes out in the heat?" Swifty asked in reply. "I haven't seen the sun in 14 years. For me, they make air-conditioned movies and restaurants, where a man can sit and enjoy a glass tea while he figures the horses. Sun—sun is for schlemiels."

"Now, wait a minute," I said. "You're at the track every day, and some days must be sunny. How do you avoid it?"

"Who is outside?" he demanded. "Who watches the horses? I play them; I don't have to watch my money being lost. Listen, I get out there, I find myself a quiet corner in the restaurant and I sit there underneath the stands and wait for my friends to bring me the results. I know one horse can run faster than another horse. Ain't it bad enough I bet them? I got to watch them, too?"

SWIFTY STIRRED HIS TEA LAZILY and pondered the question of heat in New York. "It's all a state of mind," he said, flatly. "Look, come the winter, everybody leaves town for Miami and then they lay around in the sun, sweating like a duck's back, and feeling happy that they're hot. Then when it is hot up here, they moan. Purely mental."

"I think even you will admit that the humidity in New York is hotter and damper than any humidity in the world," I said.

"I never understand that humidity thing," Swifty said, frowning. "Do you mean that when it gets warm in summer and you begin to collapse at the 16th pole, it ain't the hot weather doing it? It is this humidity?"

I tried to explain to him about the air being saturated with moisture and so on, but I am not a one for explanations. "Did you ever find another town that is as uncomfortable as this one in summer?" I said, evading the issue.

"I only been in three towns in my life," he said. "This one, Saratoga and Miami. I almost got to some city called Arkansas during the war, when a half-miler down there was the only track being operated in the country, but instead I went over to a horse joint uptown and we bet on races they run 30 years ago.

"You know what my luck is? They give us a race in which this Man of War is going and I get a little down on him, at 1 to 100 yet—and he gets beat by a pig named Upset. And I thought this goat never lost!"

* * * *

"DID YOU EVER TRY SLEEPING ON THE GRASS in Central Park on a hot night?" I asked, steering the conversation away from culture. "They tell me you can cool off wonderfully there."

"Grass, shmass," Swifty said. "I sleep on a bed in an air-conditioned room. Air-conditioning I got in my hotel, like any civilized human being."

"Doesn't it have any after effects?" I asked.

"Well, I got a cold in the head all summer," he admitted, "but this ain't a perfect life, you know. You got to take the good with the bad, because you never will pass this way again, and a rolling stone gathers no moss." He apparently was caught up in the rhapsody of his dubious prose and was ready to carry on, but I cut him short.

"I've got to go," I said. "I've got an interview lined up with Betty Hutton." Swifty just sighed and shook his head.

"Well," he said, "keep cool, fool."

"That's yesterday's furniture."

ONE MAN'S OPINION

The feeling is that if Frank Erickson gets 60 years for bookmaking, some of his horses should get life.

But this thing has thrown such a scare into New York bookies that 300 cigar stores have started selling cigars again.

Congress is still working up to its own investigation of gambling. You can get 4 to 5 on the result.

It's 2 to 5 on the results of the Amerasia probe which is one of the biggest gambles in town at the moment.

As in most of these cases we have everything but the evidence at the moment, but some might come out by accident.

But the way these investigations keep bobbing up we may have to find another dam to dedicate before October.

Meanwhile if they keep sending gamblers to jail, who's going to take our bets on the outcome of these things?

In most states it costs about 10 times as much to keep a prisoner locked up as it does to have him on parole.

Youngsters and young people find few games more fascinating than tennis, or better qualified to let them work off their animal spirits. Purely as a matter of hardened self-interest cities should build more tennis courts.

The trouble with many people, in this day and time, is that they are perfectly willing to be neighbors to the people of Africa, India and Asia but unwilling to be neighbors at home.

Discipline is never a problem for the parents who do what the youngsters say.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Not yet 50, Tom Dewey has had one of the most picturesque careers ever to be the lot of a small town boy who made the grade in the world's largest city. Coming from Owosso, Mich., the son of a newspaperman, Dewey had been brought up in the moderate circumstances of Middle Western families and he terminates his political career in the same economic circumstances.

Dewey has been able to do little more than pay as he went in an era when small fry turn themselves into rich men with every whirl of the game of politics. The financial problem of living up to one's position without the means to do it can become a very practical one for a person who takes family responsibility seriously.

Dewey's personality is not such as wins people to him easily. He is not the most warm-hearted and cordial of men, and in the arrangement of his political career, he has been too rigid for the hail-fellow-well-met traditions of our people. Nevertheless, his 'team," as it has been called, of extraordinarily capable men has remained with him throughout his career, all of them at great personal sacrifice, and all of them coming out of positions of temptation and opportunity without scandal. That has been public service at its best, and has undoubtedly been the keystone of Dewey's success.

Dewey's pre-eminence has been as an administrator rather than as a politician. He has been governor of New York state two terms of four years each and has given a difficult and intricate governmental and social structure the best administration it has ever known. Even his political enemies concede his vast abilities as an executive.

Twice nominated for the presidency, he was twice defeated, the second time unnecessarily, as most students of the problem assert. Although he is the titular head of the Republican Party, he has no great personal following within it. Yet, because of his unusual administrative abilities, he is admired without being beloved. His influence may be greater as a private citizen than it has been as a governor speaking on international problems.

His unwillingness to run for reelection as governor of New York, in a year when his reelection is certain, is the culmination of illness, of fatigue, and of the profits of honesty. Dewey cannot, out of his wages as a public official, provide adequately for his family. This is true of so many men in public life;

Unfortunately, the Republicans do not have a strong candidate to replace Dewey. The lieutenant-governor, Joe Hanley, age 74, is a charming personality, a good campaigner and popular among those who know him. He might make the grade.

The Democrats have a horde of candidates, including Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., Oscar Ewing, the socialized medicine man; Judge Ferdinand Pecora, Judge Charles Froessel, both popular and suitable candidates; Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York, an inexplicable phenomenon who does everything wrong and remains politically potent; and James A. Farley, who can be elected by merely announcing that he is a candidate.

The Republicans face a problem in this galaxy which they cannot take in their stride. They will have to do more than work hard to hold New York state.

New Uses of X-Ray and Radium

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE scope of X-ray and radium has constantly been enlarged so that today irradiation in these two forms is being successfully used in the treatment of a large number of different conditions. In some cases it is the best method; in other disorders, it is a useful aid to other forms of treatment.

Though the average person does not realize it, irradiation has proved valuable in dealing with certain types of infection. Just how it works is not known, but the general opinion is that by destroying the white blood cells known as lymphocytes, it liberates substances with germ-killing powers. It also increases the flow of blood to the affected part, always a helpful measure in overcoming infection.

Among the infections in which irradiation is helpful are boils and carbuncles, pimples, eczema, ringworm of the scalp, and sinus infection.

Early Treatment

It has been noted that carbuncles, when treated early by irradiation, may be entirely warded off. Carbuncles commonly occur on the back of the neck in the deeper portions of the tissues under the skin. But, in all cases, the irradiation relieves pain and speeds up healing.

The irradiation is also helpful in controlling acute infections of the parotid glands located just below the ear. These are the glands which produce saliva. It is also the best form of treatment for tubercular infections of the lymph glands in the neck.

Irradiation has also been found useful in the treatment of bursitis, the inflammation which so often occurs in the bursa, or fluid-containing sacs which cushion the joints. Often lime salts may be deposited in the bursa as a result of the inflammation.

Useful for Neuritis

X-ray treatment is useful for neuritis and neuralgia, and has also been used with benefit in some cases of arthritis or inflammation of the joints.

X-ray treatment to get rid of enlarged tonsils and overgrowths of lymphoid tissues in the throat has been found quite successful, particularly when surgery cannot be satisfactorily carried out.

Certain moles and warts and overgrowths of scar tissue, known as keloids, can be satisfactorily treated with X-ray.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

F. P.: My tongue is often coated and I am bothered with frequent belching. A test indicated lack of hydrochloric acid. Is this a symptom of stomach disorder?

Answer: Hypoacidity is a symptom that may occur in various conditions, most of them not serious. It is also found in severe anemia and following any severe infection. Pernicious anemia is accompanied by a lack of acid in the stomach, as is cancer of the stomach.

SHADOW on the RANGE

SYNOPSIS

Dr. Brian Ives returns to Tamerlane, frontier town of the Old West. Colonel Carradine, once his benefactor, needs him. Ives is ordered to "get out" by blonde giant Cory Lund, but Marco Stole, an old acquaintance, intervenes.

CHAPTER TWO

CORY picked his hat from where it had fallen, and his gaze held the piled-up hatred of these past few moments. He looked at Ives and said, "I've been pushed before. I've always found the time and place to push back. That goes for you, and it goes for Colonel Carradine, when you see him."

Ives said, "I'll tell him that."

Cory turned on his heel and strode away, the two wordlessly following after him. Ives looked for the square-cut man in the doorway; he had vanished. From the window, Stoll said, "Come on up and pass the time of day, Doc. You remember the lay-out? The stairs are at the back of the drug store."

Ives said, "I'll find them."

He came across the street and entered the drug store; here was something out of his own way of life, and in the cool darkness of the place he again found the old and remembered, and something else as well, something that erased what had happened just now, something that said: "You are Brian Ives, physician and surgeon, a man who knows only the violence wrought by others, having no personal part in it yourself."

A clerk, pimpled and adolescent, was behind the counter, and to him Ives nodded, skirting the shelves and knowing what they held without looking. Prussian Worm Powder, for horses. Sal-Vet, the cow remedy. Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy. Thus could the needs of the three be attended to; and there were the bottled medicines and the vari-colored glass jars with the ingredients that made up into prescriptions. Ives swung past these and ascended the stairs, and Marco Stoll met him with a plump hand extended and said again, "Howdy, Doc. Welcome home."

The living quarters of the man were over-furnished and repulsive with mohair, a marble-topped table centering the room with a chessboard laid out; but it was the man, Marco Stoll, who filled the cramped space. He wasn't tall, no more than five feet seven; but his girth was enormous, and he crowded his clothes and waddled when he walked. He waved Ives to a chair and took one for himself and said, "Whatever fetched you back here, Doc? It's been ten years, hasn't it?"

"Ten," Ives said. "One year knocking about. One year reading medicine under a preceptor who took a fancy to me in Wyoming. Reading medicine! Most of my time was spent with a broom. Two years in medical school. The last few I've been practicing in Oregon."

"Like that country?"

Ives shrugged. "It's something like Montana. Only the sagebrush grows higher. And there are lava caves. And the mountains and the prairies seem to blend into one." He looked through the open window; he could see across a rooftop; he could see the shadowy lift of the Sombra Hills, and not until then was he glad to be back.

"It takes in a lot of country," Ives said. "I'm a saddlebag sawbones who spends more time riding than counting pulses. And sometimes I take my pay in potatoes."

He felt Stoll's eyes on the shabby Prince Albert, and his thought was that he wasn't fooling this man; Stoll could read what there was to read, and Ives said defensively, "I like it. A city practice would stifle a range-reared man."

"Yes," Stoll said, "you had elbow room on the Hammer, and that would have become habit with you. You didn't say why you came back."

There was Stoll's question again; and into Ives came a faint animosity at this persistence, and the first speculation as to whether more than curiosity prompted it. He looked at Stoll with a man's eyes; Ives had been a fifteen-year-old when last he'd seen Stoll, and he saw that there was a greater depth to Stoll than he'd previously perceived. The man had the twang of cattledom to his speech, yet he was using another language now, and Ives guessed that Stoll had still a third for the talking a man does within himself. He recalled vaguely that Stoll had long ago been a cowboy; he had come up from Texas with the great influx, and that seemed incongruous when you tried picturing Stoll on a horse. Stoll's question still hung in the air, and Ives was remembering that Stoll had likely saved his life.

"Tana sent for me," he said.

Stoll raised his eyebrows; they were dust-colored, giving him a naked look. "So—?" he said and was reflective for a moment. "She comes in sometimes. It's through her that I kept track of you." He smiled. "And now it's Doctor Ives."

"I had a little trouble getting used to it myself," Ives said.

"Tana told you of the trouble?"

Again that faint animosity touched Ives' nerves, but he said, "The colonel is getting old. And cantankerous. Tana thought I could be of help to him. Yes, she hinted of trouble." He gestured toward the street. "Apparently she knew what she was talking about. Who was that young fire-eater?"

"Cory Lund," Stoll said. "There are a lot of nesters along the upper Sombra. An oldster who looks as though he stepped right out of the Old Testament is the leader of them. Elisha Lund. He believes that a soft answer turneth away wrath. Young Cory, his cub, hasn't lived long enough to learn that."

"He had me rigged good and tight," Ives said. "Across the street was a square-cut fellow with a pair of shoulders that would do credit to an ox."

Stoll frowned. "That would be Brule. He's a saddle-bum who drifted in. I can't believe he'd be sitting in on Cory's game."

"Old Charley recognized me earlier," Ives mused. "He went legging it to spread the word. I suppose that's what set this Cory prowling for me. But how do I count in his scheme of things?"

"Colonel Carradine is crowding the nesters, Doc. It's the old, old story of big rancher and small rancher, except that the colonel can't see that his fight is lost before it starts. Washington has grown tired of the antics of big operators who think they're lords of the earth because they happened to be here first. The day of the open range is over. The law favors the covered wagon over the chuckwagon any day. But Carradine's talking of importing gunmen and making a wholesale clean-up. It could be Johnson County all over again. Carradine should have learned a lesson from Wyoming."

Ives said slowly, "So that's what Tana was worrying about."

Stoll said, "You don't owe a thing to Colonel Carradine. Yes, he raised you, and he educated you after a fashion. But it was bitter bread he gave you to eat. And you just about worked your way through medical school. All the help you ever got from him you paid for in sweat before you left Hammer."

Ives said sharply, "You seem to know a great deal about it."

Stoll gestured toward the window. "In my hours off, I sit there. I see what goes on in Tamerlane. Quite a name for a cowtown, isn't it? There's my balcony seat to this section of the world. The rest of the time I'm behind a counter. People talk. I listen. And I always had my eye on you, Doc. Maybe I felt sorry for you when you were a youngster. Maybe you were worth watching. I'm proud of you."

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

Mel Heimer

NEW YORK—It had been some time since I saw Swifty O'Brien, the pride of the poolrooms, so I tracked him down to the Stage delicatessen, where he was munching meditatively on a hot pastrami sandwich, and asked him what plans he was making to get out of New York now that the dog days were approaching. This, as you may have heard, is without a doubt the worst city in the world in which to spend summer. There is no second.

"Dog days," Swifty repeated, "—listen, every day is dog day to me. I pick the best dogs out at Belmont and they run like sausages. Without legs."

"Sausages with legs, I got to see," I said, lapsing into the O'Brien idiom. "No, seriously, Swifty, how do you beat the heat in Manhattan? Do you go to the mountings for the summer, or take the baths at Saratoga? Or perhaps you go north for the hunting?"

"There are baths at Saratoga?" he asked, lifting his eloquent eyebrows. "I been going there for 20 years, and there ain't no bath in the room I get at the Grand Union. Only a shower, down the hall. And for this I pay six bucks a day."

"Don't you feel the heat in New York on some of those humid days, when the steam rises from the East and North rivers?" I asked him. "Doesn't your collar wilt and your spirits sag?"

"Who goes out in the heat?" Swifty asked in reply. "I haven't seen the sun in 14 years. For me, they make air-conditioned movies and restaurants, where a man can sit and enjoy a glass tea while he figures the horses. Sun—sun is for schlemiels."

"Now, wait a minute," I said. "You're at the track every day, and some days must be sunny. How do you avoid it?"

"Who is outside?" he demanded. "Who watches the horses? I play them; I don't have to watch my money being lost. Listen, I get out there, I find myself a quiet corner in the restaurant and I sit there underneath the stands and wait for my friends to bring me the results. I know one horse can run faster than another horse. Ain't it bad enough I bet them? I got to watch them, too?"

SWIFTY STIRRED HIS TEA LAZILY and pondered the question of heat in New York. "It's all a state of mind," he said, flatly. "Look, come the winter, everybody leaves town for Miami and then they lay around in the sun, sweating like a duck's back, and feeling happy that they're hot. Then when it is hot up here, they moan. Purely mental."

"I think even you will admit that the humidity in New York is hotter and damper than any humidity in the world," I said.

"I never understand that humidity thing," Swifty said, frowning. "Do you mean that when it gets warm in summer and you begin to collapse at the 16th pole, it ain't the hot weather doing it? It is this humidity?"

I tried to explain to him about the air being saturated with moisture and so on, but I am not a one for explanations. "Did you ever find another town that is as uncomfortable as this one in summer?" I said, evading the issue.

"I only been in three towns in my life," he said. "This one, Saratoga and Miami. I almost got to some city called Arkansas during the war, when a half-miler down there was the only track being operated in the country, but instead I went over to a horse joint uptown and we bet on races they run 30 years ago.

"You know what my luck is? They give us a race in which this Man of War is going and I get a little down on him, at 1 to 100 yet—and he gets beat by a pig named Upset. And I thought this goat never lost!"

• • • •

"DID YOU EVER TRY SLEEPING ON THE GRASS in Central Park on a hot night?" I asked, steering the conversation away from culture. "They tell me you can cool off wonderfully there."

"Grass, shmass," Swifty said. "I sleep on a bed in an air-conditioned room. Air-conditioning I got in my hotel, like any civilized human being."

"Doesn't it have any after effects?" I asked.

"Well, I got a cold in the head all summer," he admitted, "but this ain't a perfect life, you know. You got to take the good with the bad, because you never will pass this way again, and a rolling stone gathers no moss." He apparently was caught up in the rhapsody of his dubious prose and was ready to carry on, but I cut him short.

"I've got to go," I said. "I've got an interview lined up with Betty Hutton." Swifty just sighed and shook his head.

"Well," he said, "keep cool, fool."

"That's yesterday's furniture."

ONE MAN'S OPINION

The feeling is that if Frank Erickson gets 60 years for bookmaking, some of his horses should get life.

But this thing has thrown such a scare into New York bookies that 300 cigar stores have started selling cigars again.

Congress is still working up to its own investigation of gambling. You can get 4 to 5 on the result.

It's 2 to 5 on the results of the Amerasia probe which is one of the biggest gambles in town at the moment.

As in most of these cases we have everything but the evidence at the moment, but some might come out by accident.

But the way these investigations keep bobbing up we may have to find another dam to dedicate before October.

Meanwhile if they keep sending gamblers to jail, who's going to take our bets on the outcome of these things?

In most states it costs about 10 times as much to keep a prisoner locked up as it does to have him on parole.

Five Area Garden Clubs Attend Commercial Point Open Meeting And Show

Mrs. Watt Is Speaker

When Commercial Point Garden Club held an open meeting in connection with its non-competitive flower show, the affair was attended by guests from Grove City, Solaqua, Monrovian, Pickaway and Circleville Garden Clubs.

Eighty entries were made in the six-class flower show staged in Commercial Point new elementary school. The most popular class was the one featuring an arrangement of annuals with 25 entries.

The class which called for an arrangement of perennials had 24 entries. The class "Conversation Piece" drew 16 entries. The other classes included "An Arrangement with an Oriental Theme," a "miniature" up to three inches and a "miniature" up to six inches.

Mrs. Homer Jacobs of Dayton Garden Gate Club instructed the audience on flower arrangements during the afternoon session.

She discussed with her listeners the arrangements in all classes of the flower show as well as the arrangements she herself had made.

Mrs. Donald H. Watt of Circleville, treasurer of Ohio Association of Garden Clubs, was featured speaker of the morning session. Mrs. Watt selected for her topic, "Qualities of a Garden Club Member."

Mrs. C. F. Neiswander of Grove City had the outstanding arrangement of the show. Grove City Garden Club, which she is a member, received a prize for her achievement.

Grange Plans Erect Marker

Logan Elm Grange members plan to erect a marker near Pickaway school with the name of their Grange and place of meeting lettered on it. Marvin Dresbach, treasurer, suggested that a picture of Logan Elm be included on the sign. Frank Graves, worthy master, conducted the business meeting at which the plans were formulated.

A dinner meeting was planned which will be held in Scioto Lodge near Chillicothe.

In charge of the Father's Day program were Hoyt Timmons, Mrs. Harry Wright and Mrs. Don Miller. They presented on the program, Mrs. Ed Wilkins and Mrs. Wright and Curtis Bower in readings pertaining to Father's Day; Miss Ruth McKenzie in a piano solo.

A playlet, "Dad Tells All" was given by a cast including Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McKenzie, Hoyt Timmons and Mrs. Miller.

'Melody Hour' Is Feature Of DAR Meeting

"Melody Hour," under the direction of Mrs. Martin Cromley and Mrs. Paul Cromley comprised the program for the annual June luncheon of Pickaway Plains chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, held Tuesday in Presbyterian church social rooms.

A duet featuring the song, "The Flag," composed by a past president general of national society of DAR, Mrs. W. W. Magna, was sung by Mrs. Paul Cromley and Mrs. Roland Featherinham.

Others taking part in "Melody Hour" were Mrs. Clark Hunsicker Jr., whose selections included, "Morning" and "Clouds"; Mrs. Paul Cromley and Mrs. Featheringham who sang another duet, "With A Song in My Heart" accompanied by Mrs. Martin Cromley; Mrs. Joseph C. Peters who played the first movement of Beethoven's Sonata.

Mrs. W. L. Mack, regent, gave the address of welcome to the 66 members and guests attending the luncheon. Mrs. W. Emerson Downing, chaplain, assisted with the ritual.

Out-of - town members and guests present were Mrs. Harry Sohn of Xenia, Mrs. George Dunn of Minneapolis, Mrs. Paul Mathias, Mrs. Vaughn Hill and Mrs. Harry Stoker of Columbus; Miss Eliza Plum of Delaware and Miss Margaret Dunlap guest of Dayton.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. McClure Hughes, Mrs. Paul Cromley, Mrs. Sohn, Mrs. Emerson Spicer and Miss Dorothy MacArthur.

Five Area Garden Clubs Attend Commercial Point Open Meeting And Show

Mrs. Watt Is Speaker

When Commercial Point Garden Club held an open meeting in connection with its non-competitive flower show, the affair was attended by guests from Grove City, Solaqua, Monrovian, Pickaway and Circleville Garden Clubs.

Eighty entries were made in the six-class flower show staged in Commercial Point new elementary school. The most popular class was the one featuring an arrangement of annuals with 25 entries.

The class which called for an arrangement of perennials had 24 entries. The class "Conversation Piece" drew 16 entries. The other classes included "An Arrangement with an Oriental Theme," a "miniature" up to three inches and a "miniature" up to six inches.

Mrs. Homer Jacobs of Dayton Garden Gate Club instructed the audience on flower arrangements during the afternoon session.

She discussed with her listeners the arrangements in all classes of the flower show as well as the arrangements she herself had made.

Mrs. Donald H. Watt of Circleville, treasurer of Ohio Association of Garden Clubs, was featured speaker of the morning session. Mrs. Watt selected for her topic, "Qualities of a Garden Club Member."

Mrs. C. F. Neiswander of Grove City had the outstanding arrangement of the show. Grove City Garden Club, which she is a member, received a prize for her achievement.

Miss Ruth Blum To Be Married Here Sunday

The tradition of an open church wedding will be observed Sunday when Miss Ruth Esther Blum and Charles O. Brizius are married in Trinity Lutheran church at 4:30 p. m.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Blum of 376 Watt street. Mr. Brizius is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar C. Brizius of Newburgh, Ind.

Preceding the ceremony, which will be read by the Rev. George L. Troutman, a program of music has been planned. Edmund Weingart, violinist, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Karl Herrmann, organist, will present the nuptial music.

Miss Blum has chosen for her maid-of-honor and only attendant, Miss Virginia Sippel of Cincinnati.

Paul Carnes, cousin of the prospective bridegroom, will be best man.

Ushers will include Edward Blum Jr., brother of bride-elect, Allen Long, Richard Korb of Evansville, Ind., and Stewart Murray of Elkhart, Ind.

Hostesses at the reception which will be held in the home of the bride's parents will be Mrs. Edward Weingart, Mrs. Carl Kelley, Mrs. Ray Whitney and Mrs. Edward Blum Jr.

Miss Blum was an honor music student in Circleville high school and as outstanding girl of her class she won the Kiwanis Achievement award. She attended Cincinnati Conservatory of Music on a scholarship as well as doing her graduate work in University of Indiana on a scholarship.

Miss Blum has been heard in concerts here. She has recently been instructor in Mary Hardin-Baylor college in Belton, Texas. Miss Blum is one of Circleville's most outstanding musicians.

CLEVELAND, June 22 — Joseph T. Ferguson, Democratic candidate for the United States Senate from Ohio, believes he will defeat Sen. Robert A. Taft by 250,000 votes next Fall.

Ferguson made his prediction at a political rally here last night. He told the audience of about 100 that he would be supported by 90 percent of labor, 75 percent of the Negro vote, 10 to 15 percent of the Republicans and "some businessmen and white collar workers who don't like him (Taft) too well."

Harman Attends Fair Meeting

Tom Harman, secretary to the Pickaway County Agricultural Society, attended a statewide meeting of Ohio fair managers Thursday in Columbus.

Harman said the meeting will consist of a general report on the proposed 1950 fairs, budgetary problems and the extent of the programs provided by the fairs.

Woman Bound To Grand Jury

ASHLAND, June 22 — Mrs. Anna F. Engle, 53-year-old Wayne County widow, was bound over to the grand jury on charges of kidnaping Mrs. Nettie Kindell, 74, and freed on $2 000 bond late yesterday in Ashland County common pleas court.

The grand jury will not be called for several months, according to Prosecutor Kenneth G. Nordstrom. The docket was cleared last week.

Mrs. Engle denied the charges of kidnaping and attempting to extort property from Mrs. Kindell, an aunt of Mrs. Engle's late husband, at her preliminary hearing.

35 Are Hurt When Theatre Ceiling Falls

REDWOOD CITY, Cal., June 22—About 35 persons were injured—16 of them requiring hospital treatment—when part of the ceiling of the Sequoia motion picture theatre here collapsed last night.

Two of the 16 persons taken to hospitals remained under treatment and x-ray examination early today and attendants said they were believed to be in serious though not critical condition. The other 14 were released after treatment.

The other injured theatre patrons were able to go to their homes following first-aid treatment at the scene.

Approximately 100 persons were in the movie house when a portion of the ceiling directly above the balcony and loges caved in suddenly at 11:25 p. m., dropping huge chunks of plaster on the audience.

Some of the falling sections of ceiling plaster that tumbled down on the balcony and loges weighed 50 pounds each and were about ten feet long.

Cause of the ceiling collapse was not yet determined. The assistant theatre manager, Jack Stine, said a major disaster might have occurred had the collapse taken place at an earlier hour when the theatre was almost filled with patrons.

Congregational Church Meets

CLEVELAND, June 22—More than 2,000 persons from all parts of the world were on hand today as the 10th biennial convention of the General Council of the Churches opened here.

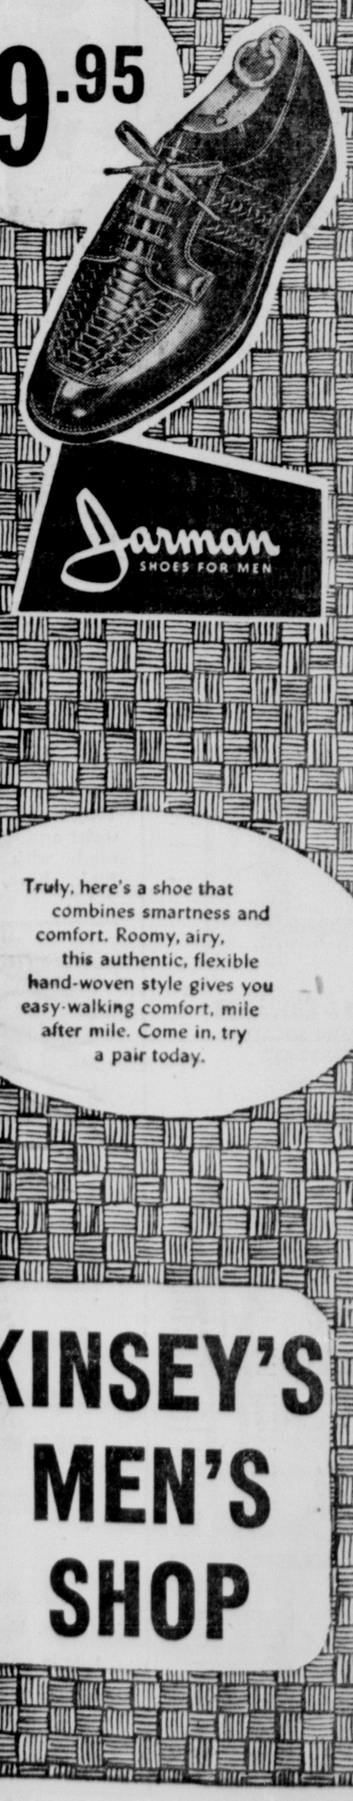

A broad program for the extension of missions work in the country and in foreign lands will be presented at the five-day conference in Music Hall.

Highlighting the sessions will be a talk Saturday night by Charles P. Taft on "The Welfare State" and an address Monday on "The Roots of American Foreign Policy" by U. S. Assistant Secretary of State William L. Thorp.

CHIANG'S LAST STAND

Nationals Now Use Yank Arms, Methods, Customs

KAOHSIUNG, Formosa, June 22—It is difficult to realize just how much the Chinese army, navy and airforce are patterned on the American military.

In big things and small the Chinese have adopted American methods and even attitudes, along with the American equipment that still forms the basic supply pool in China.

Fliers trained at Thunderbird and Randolph and a dozen other fields in the United States wear battered caps, like American airmen, talk about chop suey joints in Los Angeles and Dallas and even use American slang from American airfields.

Some recruits at the naval training school put on helmet liners to run through a loading drill on a three-inch naval gun. The helmets not only were American, but one used to be worn by a fellow named "J. Lemcheck" and another by "J. T. Ferguson." The names were stencilled on the liners.

THE NAVAL academy accepts only men who can pass rigid examinations in the English language. They have to know the language expertly because all the text books in the academy were bought from Annapolis and are in English.

At a fighter base the pilots in the ready room lounged on rattan lawn chairs, read American magazines, wore American Airforce coveralls and smoked American cigarets.

The squadron leader, Capt. C. Y. Wang, was with the first group of Chinese who went to America for pilot training.

That was before Pearl Harbor. He talked American and so did almost every man in his squadron. They fly American Mustangs.

Jeeps and staff cars stood nearby, drivers at the wheels ready to rush the pilots to their planes instantly on an alarm. On the hoods were stacked American parachutes and American life jackets, the "Mae West" type.

The Navy training school is well supplied with American radar, gyroscopic compasses, radios and other technical equipment used to train men for work at sea.

Both the army and navy have American training films.

The navy has a few Japanese ships in operation, but for the most part its warships and naval cargo vessels are American.

National Air Races Delayed Until Spring

CLEVELAND, June 22—The National Air Races, usually held in Cleveland during the Labor Day weekend in September, has been postponed until May 19 and 20, 1951, to coincide with Armed Forces Day.

Officers and executive committeemen of the races said that the move was made in the hope that the armed forces will remove the ban on military planes in the annual event by that time.

Air Race officials originally had expected Airforce jet fighters to fly the famed Thompson Trophy speed race and the Los Angeles-Cleveland Bendix Derby in addition to exhibitions of mass bomber flights and jet flight performance.

"It is hoped that this Spring date will make possible the complete cooperation of the armed services so that Airforce, Army, Navy and Marine Corps units may be assigned to Cleveland's big air event in connection with the observation of Armed Forces Day," said Frederick Crawford, president of the National Air Races.

Also included in the plans for the Spring show are the Thompson and Bendix events, the $25,000 Continental pylon race for small racing planes and a full program of aerial acrobatic flying and parachute jumping, Crawford added.

The event has been held in Cleveland 13 times and annually draws a crowd of about 200,000.

16,158 Members Added In Year By Presbyterians

WOOSTER, June 22—Ohio Presbyterians have added 16,158 new members to their rolls during the last year.

The Rev. E. W. Stinson, chairman of the New Life Committee, gave that figure to the Ohio Presbyterian Synod and Synodical Society in session on the College of Wooster campus.

Th Rev. Herman Klahr reported that Sunday school enrollments increased 10,225 to reach 109,015. Receipts in 1949 were $4,619,588, more than $400,000 above the previous year.

Today's session is to include reports on foreign missions, social education, Presbyterian men, the American Bible Society and the Council of Synod.

Mrs. Charles Olson of Cleveland, serving her second year as president of the women's synodical, announced results of elections held by the women's group.

Mrs. William Gross of Cincinnati and Mrs. Wade Miller of Franklin were elected vice-presidents; Mrs. Clifford Lodwick of Cincinnati, treasurer; Mrs. Daniel Mamaw of Youngstown, recording secretary; Mrs. Ernest Ramsey of Columbus, historian; Mrs. O. P. Ulrich of Orrville, stewardship and spiritual life secretary, and Mrs. Nathan Cunningham of Clyde, foreign missions secretary.

5 Towns Plan Major Celebrations

Sesquicentennial Due In 1953

COLUMBUS, June 22—Ohioans will pay particular attention to five towns this Summer for their celebrations may play a big part in setting the pattern for the great statewide Ohio Sesquicentennial in 1953.

Standing out as added attractions to Ohio's long list of annual fairs, festivals, and the many athletic and sports events, are the programs to be held in: Fletcher, McArthur, Fredericktown, Brookville and Austinburg.

The village of Fletcher will hold a four-day Centennial Celebration, July 1-4. Some of the highlights of the festival will be the selection of two queens, one to represent 1850 and the other 1950; a big barn dance will be held every night except Sunday; exhibits of antiques, art, and flowers; and several musical organizations, celebrities, and radio stars will be on the entertainment program.

Vinton County will launch its well-planned Centennial Celebration with the simultaneous ringing of every bell in the county. This dramatic opening was gleaned from the novel "Miracle Of The Bells" which was written by a Vinton countian, Russell Janney. The celebration will be July 30 through Aug. 5.

FREDERICKTOWN, at the junction of Routes 13 and 95, world-famous for its cast iron bells and as the "Catnip Capital," will celebrate 100 years of progress, Aug. 9-13 inclusive. Among many scheduled attractions are a big parade, a historical pageant each night, and special church services.

Brookville will stage a highly-animated and entertaining celebration in observation of its Centennial, Sept. 17-23. Listed on the program are: the James Chanos carnival, WLW Hayride Show, fireworks, tractor pulling contests, and Governor's Day.

The campus of historic Grand River Academy will be the site for Austinburg Sesquicentennial, July 27-30. So many events have been placed on the four-day program that almost every minute of the waking hours will be alive with music, parades, speeches, games, and exhibitions.

Topping the list will be a pageant, and augmented by a pioneer parade, horse show, beauty parade, antique show, and conducted tours of old homes and landmarks. A reunion of all graduates of Grand River Academy, formerly named Grand River Institute, will be held July 29.

First cast iron girder bridge in the United States was built over the Erie canal at Frankfort, N. Y., in 1840. It was 77 feet long.

The annual shoe production in the United States is approximately three pairs per capita, or 450 million pairs.

Crossings should be Seen and not Felt

WHEN the sign says "Stop, Look and Listen," the prudent driver does.

But after that what? Must you still move forward at a cautious crawl or pay toll in jar, jitter and jounce?

You step on the throttle, move easily, swiftly forward. Your wheels dance—your tires drum-roll over rail and plank.

But four gentle coil springs, one on each wheel, are working their magic—and you hear rather than feel the rough spot you have crossed.

That, of course, is only one kind of rough going you can meet in your travels. It's only one kind of discomfort your Buick's built to master.

For beside gentle coil springing, every Buick rides on soft, low-pressure tires. Every one is steadied by a rigid torque-tube. Every one boasts a rigid, weaveproof frame—soft, sure shock absorbers—even special engine mountings to minimize vibration.

They can have the special added smoothness of Dynaflow Drive,* cushioning power-thrust in spinning oil.

So rough spots seem to level out at your coming. Boulevards take on a new smoothness. You know what riding comfort is—why the Buick ride is called matchless.

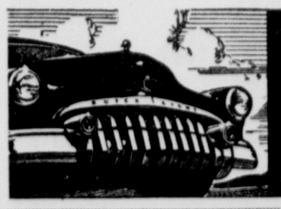

So how about it?

Come climb into a Buick and see for yourself what we mean. You'll get a style-thrill and a power-thrill along with your ride-thrill—and a story on price that eliminates your last excuse for not traveling in the Buick manner!

Only BUICK has Dynaflow— and with it goes:

HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD forefront, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

CHIANG'S LAST STAND

Nationals Now Use Yank Arms, Methods, Customs

KAOHSIUNG, Formosa, June 22—It is difficult to realize just how much the Chinese army, navy and airforce are patterned on the American military.

In big things and small the Chinese have adopted American methods and even attitudes, along with the American equipment that still forms the basic supply pool in China.

Fliers trained at Thunderbird and Randolph and a dozen other fields in the United States wear battered caps, like American airmen, talk about chop suey joints in Los Angeles and Dallas and even use American slang from American airfields.

Some recruits at the naval training school put on helmet liners to run through a loading drill on a three-inch naval gun. The helmets not only were American, but one used to be worn by a fellow named "J. Lemcheck" and another by "J. T. Ferguson." The names were stencilled on the liners.

THE NAVAL academy accepts only men who can pass rigid examinations in the English language. They have to know the language expertly because all the text books in the academy were bought from Annapolis and are in English.

At a fighter base the pilots in the ready room lounged on rattan lawn chairs, read American magazines, wore American Airforce coveralls and smoked American cigarets.

The squadron leader, Capt. C. Y. Wang, was with the first group of Chinese who went to America for pilot training.

That was before Pearl Harbor. He talked American and so did almost every man in his squadron. They fly American Mustangs.

Jeeps and staff cars stood nearby, drivers at the wheels ready to rush the pilots to their planes instantly on an alarm. On the hoods were stacked American parachutes and American life jackets, the "Mae West" type.

The Navy training school is well supplied with American radar, gyroscopic compasses, radios and other technical equipment used to train men for work at sea.

Both the army and navy have American training films.

The navy has a few Japanese ships in operation, but for the most part its warships and naval cargo vessels are American.

National Air Races Delayed Until Spring

CLEVELAND, June 22—The National Air Races, usually held in Cleveland during the Labor Day weekend in September, has been postponed until May 19 and 20, 1951, to coincide with Armed Forces Day.

Officers and executive committeemen of the races said that the move was made in the hope that the armed forces will remove the ban on military planes in the annual event by that time.

Air Race officials originally had expected Airforce jet fighters to fly the famed Thompson Trophy speed race and the Los Angeles-Cleveland Bendix Derby in addition to exhibitions of mass bomber flights and jet flight performance.

"It is hoped that this Spring date will make possible the complete cooperation of the armed services so that Airforce, Army, Navy and Marine Corps units may be assigned to Cleveland's big air event in connection with the observation of Armed Forces Day," said Frederick Crawford, president of the National Air Races.

Also included in the plans for the Spring show are the Thompson and Bendix events, the $25,000 Continental pylon race for small racing planes and a full program of aerial acrobatic flying and parachute jumping, Crawford added.

The event has been held in Cleveland 13 times and annually draws a crowd of about 200,000.

16,158 Members Added In Year By Presbyterians

The Rev. E. W. Stinson, chairman of the New Life Committee, gave that figure to the Ohio Presbyterian Synod and Synodical Society in session on the College of Wooster campus.

Th Rev. Herman Klahr reported that Sunday school enrollments increased 10,225 to reach 109,015. Receipts in 1949 were $4,619,588, more than $400,000 above the previous year.

Today's session is to include reports on foreign missions, social education, Presbyterian men, the American Bible Society and the Council of Synod.

Mrs. Charles Olson of Cleveland, serving her second year as president of the women's synodical, announced results of elections held by the women's group.

Mrs. William Gross of Cincinnati and Mrs. Wade Miller of Franklin were elected vice-presidents; Mrs. Clifford Lodwick of Cincinnati, treasurer; Mrs. Daniel Mamaw of Youngstown, recording secretary; Mrs. Ernest Ramsey of Columbus, historian; Mrs. O. P. Ulrich of Orrville, stewardship and spiritual life secretary, and Mrs. Nathan Cunningham of Clyde, foreign missions secretary.

5 Towns Plan Major Celebrations

Sesquicentennial Due In 1953

COLUMBUS, June 22—Ohioans will pay particular attention to five towns this Summer for their celebrations may play a big part in setting the pattern for the great statewide Ohio Sesquicentennial in 1953.

Standing out as added attractions to Ohio's long list of annual fairs, festivals, and the many athletic and sports events, are the programs to be held in: Fletcher, McArthur, Fredericktown, Brookville and Austinburg.

Ex-Solon Mrs. Luce Tells 'Em, Then Gets Told, Too

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22—Any visiting fireman in the nation's capital who can manage to keep his ears open and his mouth shut is bound to hear gossip guaranteed to astound the folks back home.

For instance, there is the fact that every congressman and his dependents—and no one has more dependents than a congressman—are in a non-partisan rage at Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, former congresswoman from Connecticut.

Mrs. Luce, former congressional glamor girl, returned to Washington recently in a role remarkably like one she once created in her old Broadway hit, "The Women."

You may remember the original role as played by Ilka Chase: That of a lady with a bitter tongue, hung in the middle and wagging at both ends.

The former congresswoman came back to Washington as guest speaker at the Congressional Club, an old and strictly non-partisan organization of the wives of members of both the House and Senate.

At the last moment because of illness, Mrs. Homer Ferguson, wife of the Michigan senator, was unable to introduce Mrs. Luce. Mrs. Ferguson asked the wife of a Democratic senator to pinch hit for her.

AS BACKGROUND for the pinch-hitter and her introduction of the former congresswoman, Mrs. Ferguson sent that lady a long and not particularly restrained compendium of facts concerning Mrs. Luce which, at the request of Mrs. Ferguson, had been supplied her by Mrs. Luce's secretary.

On the great day, the Democratic lady, using the compendium of facts, introduced Mrs. Luce with genteel flourish and considerable leaning-over-backwards to be scrupulously fair to the visiting Republican speaker.

There was considerable stir among the congressional ladies, dressed in their feathered best, when Mrs. Luce, blonde and beautiful, arose to acknowledge the introduction. There was even more stir when Mrs. Luce began her address by acidly remarking that in her public career she had learned to tell the true from the false, and that "the introduction even nauseated me!"

As the Democratic lady, who had repeated the notes of Mrs. Luce's secretary almost word for word, turned a formidable magenta, and as the other congressional ladies gasped for air, Mrs. Luce sailed in with a deadly assortment of haymakers.

Mrs. Luce told the ladies whose husbands were even then toiling in the congressional vineyards that the legislative halls up on Capitol Hill were filled with laggard lame-brains, backward dimwits better suited to pick and shovel work, and with clods given to sloth and excessive indolence.

Now the Congressional Club is a non-partisan group and it must be said for Mrs. Luce that her attack, if wholesale, was also non-partisan. The lady from Connecticut found the Republicans no more to be admired in their congressional roles than the Democrats. She worked the boys over with equal scorn and gave them their lumps with impartial favor.

The ladies of the Congressional Club were fused as one in a monumental non-partisan rage at this attack on their respective spouses.

WHEN MRS. LUCE finally sat down, after applying the whip alike to friend and foe, she was not exactly overwhelmed by applause. She was faced by hundreds of women, each of whom probably was praying for the strength to get up and tell Mrs. Luce a few things for her own good.

But the woman who beat them all to the draw was the wife of a Republican congressman who had spent most of his life in the House of Representatives.

"Dear ladies," the little woman purred, "I do not think we should have it in our hearts to be angry with Mrs. Luce for her frank estimate of Congress. After all, during her years in Congress, Mrs. Luce doubtless saw only the frivolous side of our husbands. Thank you."

As for the congressmen themselves, they are not only awfully, awfully mad at Mrs. Luce, but terribly hurt. After all, they had tried to be so gallant.

Drunk Driving Cited After 4 Die In Wreck

ATHENS, June 22—Zane Grey Harris, 27, of Sharpsburg, was held in the Athens County jail today, accused of drunken driving, in connection with an auto accident which killed four persons and critically injured another.

The state highway patrol said Harris was the driver of a truck which crashed head-on into a car driven by James A. Cephus, 42 of Sharpsburg, yesterday afternoon on U. S. Route 50, about five miles northeast of Athens.

The dead are Cephus, James Nichols, 38, of Sharpsburg; Mrs. Raymond Keirns of McDougall, and her 18-month-old son, Hook. Keirns was taken to an Athens hospital. He suffered a broken leg and severe shock. All were passengers in the Cephus automobile.

The patrol said Cephus, Nichols and the baby apparently died instantly of fractured skulls. Mrs. Keirns died at 7 p. m., about five hours after the accident, of fractures of both legs and the skull and internal injuries.

Protestant Tipped For Vatican Job

Truman Sees Need For Rome Envoy

WASHINGTON, June 22—High government sources said today that President Truman will continue a special presidential envoy to the Vatican.

These sources said the President is now actively seeking a well-known Protestant layman to take the important ambassadorship.

It was stated the President will name a Protestant instead of a Catholic to the post that gives the President a special diplomatic contact with Pope Pius.

The special ambassadorship was vacated sometime ago by Myron C. Taylor, former chairman of the board of United States Steel Corp., who served in the capacity under the late President Roosevelt.

Mr. Truman has had several conferences with Taylor in the last few weeks.

The envoy post to the Vatican has been of a special and peculiar nature. The United States has diplomatic relations with other nations and states but not with a religious seat such as the Vatican.

For this reason, when the late President Roosevelt decided to appoint an emissary to the Vatican in 1939, he persuaded Taylor to take the post as a special representative of the President rather than as a diplomatic officer of the government.

Mr. Roosevelt sent Taylor to the Vatican as war began in Europe in 1939. Previously contact with the Vatican had been held through an officer of the United States embassy in Rome.

The appointment aroused considerable opposition from Protestant churchmen in this country. President Truman has also been under heavy pressure not to renew the ambassadorship since Taylor's resignation.

Despite this pressure, the President feels that the relationship is an extremely valuable one.

As head of the Catholic world, the pope is one of the world's leading moral forces for peace. The President and pope have frequently exchanged lengthy messages expressing hope that the world can solve its differences and enter into a long era of peace.

But the Vatican also is considered one of the most valuable listening posts in Europe on what is going on behind the Iron Curtain—just as it was during the war against Germany and Italy.

The President feels that present world tension with Soviet Russia and the Communist Far Eastern areas make it imperative that the United States not abandon a relationship such as exists with the Vatican.

The first thoroughbred horse in the United States was imported to Virginia in 1730.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, overexertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

WHEN MRS. LUCE finally sat down, after applying the whip alike to friend and foe, she was not exactly overwhelmed by applause. She was faced by hundreds of women, each of whom probably was praying for the strength to get up and tell Mrs. Luce a few things for her own good.

But the woman who beat them all to the draw was the wife of a Republican congressman who had spent most of his life in the House of Representatives.

"Dear ladies," the little woman purred, "I do not think we should have it in our hearts to be angry with Mrs. Luce for her frank estimate of Congress. After all, during her years in Congress, Mrs. Luce doubtless saw only the frivolous side of our husbands. Thank you."

As for the congressmen themselves, they are not only awfully, awfully mad at Mrs. Luce, but terribly hurt. After all, they had tried to be so gallant.

Drunk Driving Cited After 4 Die In Wreck

ATHENS, June 22—Zane Grey Harris, 27, of Sharpsburg, was held in the Athens County jail today, accused of drunken driving, in connection with an auto accident which killed four persons and critically injured another.

The state highway patrol said Harris was the driver of a truck which crashed head-on into a car driven by James A. Cephus, 42 of Sharpsburg, yesterday afternoon on U. S. Route 50, about five miles northeast of Athens.

The dead are Cephus, James Nichols, 38, of Sharpsburg; Mrs. Raymond Keirns of McDougall, and her 18-month-old son, Hook. Keirns was taken to an Athens hospital. He suffered a broken leg and severe shock. All were passengers in the Cephus automobile.

The patrol said Cephus, Nichols and the baby apparently died instantly of fractured skulls. Mrs. Keirns died at 7 p. m., about five hours after the accident, of fractures of both legs and the skull and internal injuries.

Protestant Tipped For Vatican Job

Truman Sees Need For Rome Envoy

WASHINGTON, June 22—High government sources said today that President Truman will continue a special presidential envoy to the Vatican.

These sources said the President is now actively seeking a well-known Protestant layman to take the important ambassadorship.

It was stated the President will name a Protestant instead of a Catholic to the post that gives the President a special diplomatic contact with Pope Pius.

The special ambassadorship was vacated sometime ago by Myron C. Taylor, former chairman of the board of United States Steel Corp., who served in the capacity under the late President Roosevelt.

Mr. Truman has had several conferences with Taylor in the last few weeks.

The envoy post to the Vatican has been of a special and peculiar nature. The United States has diplomatic relations with other nations and states but not with a religious seat such as the Vatican.

For this reason, when the late President Roosevelt decided to appoint an emissary to the Vatican in 1939, he persuaded Taylor to take the post as a special representative of the President rather than as a diplomatic officer of the government.

Mr. Roosevelt sent Taylor to the Vatican as war began in Europe in 1939. Previously contact with the Vatican had been held through an officer of the United States embassy in Rome.

The appointment aroused considerable opposition from Protestant churchmen in this country. President Truman has also been under heavy pressure not to renew the ambassadorship since Taylor's resignation.

Despite this pressure, the President feels that the relationship is an extremely valuable one.

As head of the Catholic world, the pope is one of the world's leading moral forces for peace. The President and pope have frequently exchanged lengthy messages expressing hope that the world can solve its differences and enter into a long era of peace.

But the Vatican also is considered one of the most valuable listening posts in Europe on what is going on behind the Iron Curtain—just as it was during the war against Germany and Italy.

The President feels that present world tension with Soviet Russia and the Communist Far Eastern areas make it imperative that the United States not abandon a relationship such as exists with the Vatican.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, overexertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

It has been difficult for the American mind to accept the fact that for many years there has been at work in America a well-organized, adequately - financed and shrewdly directed Communist conspiracy to destroy our form of government.

Some otherwise intelligent people, including high placed educators, commentators, editors and writers who influence public thinking, all the while have referred to the Communist conspiratorial apparatus as a "political party" in the ordinary sense of that term and have pleaded the case of its members on the basis of American rights."

This fuzzy thinking has even prevailed in some quarters despite the repeated statements of FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover branding the Communist plotters for what they are, and in spite of the New York jury verdict finding 11 top American Communist Party leaders guilty of teaching the violent overthrow of our government.

I hope the cold facts of Mr. Hoover's recent testimony to Congress will aid in correcting this dangerous viewpoint. He said the danger of subversive activities is greater today than during World War II.

Of special significance was Hoover's statements that the Communists have made "amazing strides" in gaining a foothold in the legal profession and are now concentrating on strengthening their position among the unions in America's heavy, strategic industries and in our highly-important media of communications such as the newspapers, the magazines, radio, movies, television, etc.

EVEN WHILE the FBI chief has thus trying again to alert the nation to the Communist internal menace, another crusade, almost identical to Communism in its basic objective, was being carried on in our country in a highly organized way. Not enough Americans realize this movement carries a threat to their freedom. For that reason it is even more dangerous, as an internal force, than Communism. The groups of this movement call themselves by various names, but all are working for an American Socialistic State.

Many Americans who found it difficult to accept the facts of the Communist conspiracy until the traitors and spies began to be rooted out of our federal government find it still more difficult to understand that the efforts of the present Socialist Planners would have the same effect on our form of government.

This state of mind is, of course, a help to the organized planners. In fact, they have almost succeeded in creating an atmosphere in which anyone who raises a cry of "Socialism" against any measure or statement is immediately stigmatized as a "crack-pot" or "reactionary," or "disciple of doom."

In England the Fabian Socialists who gained control of that country ddn't reveal their actual intentions until after they had taken over the Labor Party; and even then they labelled their objective not as a "Socialist State" but as "The Welfare State."

The Fabians got control of England by working in "nests" to infiltrate various political, social, governmental and labor groups.

THE SOCIALIST Planners have been burrowing into the fabric of our nation's life for more than 25 years. Some of their talkative members have "let the cat out of the bag" as to technique. Here's what one, H. Stephen Raushenbush, wrote in the Socialist "New Leader" 23 years ago: "One good man with his eyes, ears and wits about him inside the Department of Interior or the Treasury can do more to perfect the technique of control over industry than a hundred men outside." Twelve years later Raushenbush was chief of planning in the power division of the Department of Interior. He is now a consultant in the United Nations organization.

The Socialist plan is to infiltrate both American political institutions and American minds.

In the institutions, they establish Socialist policies and practices so gradually hardly anyone is aware; and through infiltration of our thought-shaping media such as the press, radio, textbooks, the movies, etc., they condition the American mind to accept the gradual change as "progressive" and to hold in contempt those who challenge "Socialism." Truth will always out. But I hope it will not be too late for America when the naked facts about the Socialist designs are also fully exposed.

ASHTABULA LADY LOST 30 LBS. IN 6 WEEKS

"I feel like a new woman since taking Rennel, and have lost 30 lbs. in about six weeks," writes Mrs. Frank Kleindienst, 741 W. 39th St., Ashtabula, Ohio. "I have lost this weight without dieting. I no longer feel clumsy and can now do my housework easily. Thank you very much for what Rennel has done for me."

Hundreds of others have obtained similar relief from the social and physical discomforts of being overweight. Why not try this effective yet inexpensive method of reducing and enjoy the pleasure of feeling younger and more alive. Try Rennel and notice the admiring looks you will receive from your friends as your figure becomes younger and your vitality increases. Just go to your druggist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Rennel. Pour the contents into a pint bottle—add enough unsweetened grapefruit juice to fill the bottle and then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If you aren't satisfied with the results, return the empty bottle to the manufacturer and your money will be refunded. You need never know a hungry moment while taking Rennel—no starvation diet—no printed diet list to buy—no vitamins to fortify you against weakness while going hungry, for you WON'T be hungry. Don't be switched to another product, insist on genuine Rennel.

JOB TAKES 45 MINUTES

Transplanting Of Kidney Said To Be A Success

CHICAGO, June 22—Surgeons at the Little Company of Mary hospital have transplanted the kidney of a dead woman into the body of another woman suffering from an incurable kidney ailment.

The patient, Mrs. Howard Tucker, 49, of Chicago, was under close observation today, but final results of the operation which was performed last Saturday will not be known for at least two weeks.

Surgeons at the hospital said they believed it to be the first time such an operation has been performed on a human being. Medical records show similar operations performed on animals in research laboratories.

Mrs. Tucker's temperature returned to normal 24 hours after the operation, and she was able to talk to her husband. Doctors said the new kidney appears to be functioning normally but would not make any predictions until x-ray and cystoscopic examinations are completed.

Dr. Richard Lawler, a member of the hospital staff, directed the operation and removed the diseased kidney from the patient while the healthy kidney of the dead woman who had just died was being removed by Dr. James West, also a member of the hospital staff.

THE TWO surgeons were assisted by Dr. Patrick H. McNulty and Dr. Raymond Patrick Murphy.

The kidney transplantation was completed within 45 minutes of the death of the woman donor, whose relatives asked that her name not be revealed.

The dead woman was about the same age as Mrs. Tucker. She died from a hemorrhage of the vericose veins of the esophagus and cirrhosis of the liver.

The two operations were completed in about an hour and a half.

Dr. Lawler said the transplanted kidney became warm and changed to a healthy pink color as soon as the clamps were removed from the blood vessels.

Mrs. Tucker was in the hospital for five weeks while surgeons sought for a donor who had the same blood type and healthy kidneys.

Surgeons said that, when the donor finally was found, she readily agreed to give her kidney after death.

Russ Roulette Proves Fatal

TOLEDO, June 22—Arthur Adams, 18, of Toledo, medically discharged from the Army, shot and killed himself last night while showing his father, Paul, how to play Russian roulette.

Police said that the youth placed one bullet in the pistol, spun the barrel and pulled the trigger with the gun pointing to his head.

Adams' mother said that she had received a letter from Fitzsimmons hospital in Denver, where her son was treated for a head injury, telling her to keep a close watch on him at all times.

Cuffs Of Pants Bring Conviction

HACKENSACK, N. J., June 22—Two convicted safecrackers are prison bound today because some of their business was put on the cuff.

Bandleader Shaw Irked By Thefts

CINCINNATI, June 22—Bandleader Artie Shaw's personal appearance in Cincinnati has been a costly one.

He complained to police yesterday that someone lifted $4,380 in cash, jewelry and watches from his hotel room.

Shaw said the loot included 10 watches—gifts from friends—and added that "a half-way decent-type crook would return them" because they were inscribed, not suitable for pawning.

With his sensitive nose a mole can detect the vibrations of a worm or a bettle through several inches of soil.

FEP Measure Is Defeated

CLEVELAND, June 22 — Dr. Samuel R. Gerber's fair employment practices amendment was defeated, 8 to 6, late yesterday amid charges of intent to sabotage the charter proposal.

Dr. Gerber, Cuyahoga County coroner, said the measure brought up the question of whether FEP in the county should be provided by the charter or by ordinance enacted by the county commission, if the charter is adopted by the voters.

Charles W. White, a co-author of the proposed charter, said he had long been a proponent of FEP legislation on national, state and local levels. However, White said he differed with Dr. Gerber on the question of including such a provision in a charter.

Georgetown Likes Antiques

WASHINGTON, June 22 — Georgetown, Washington's picturesque section that is full of antique houses, is going to stay antique if it takes an act of Congress.

Witnesses from Georgetown citizens' groups will meet with the House District of Columbia Committee today to tell why no structures should be built within the hallowed limits of Georgetown that do not correspond with the 17th and 18th Century atmosphere of the place.

'Wrong' Turn Brings Death

WASHINGTON, June 22—Cab Driver Gordon C. Brown Jr., 24, was shot to death because he failed to make the correct turn.

Washington and military olice said today they had obtained the confession of Pvt. Gilbert W. Reynolds, 18, of Sayre, Pa., that he clubbed and shot Brown May 30 when the hackie made a turn at Bolling Airforce Base which Reynolds thought was wrong.

French Artist Says New Drugs Whip Arthritis

His phhsicians are naturally cautious about claiming any miracle. But the fact remains that Dufy, who arrived in the United States nearly two months ago able to walk only on crutches and work only in great pain, is now able to get about using only canes.

The 73-year-old French impressionist, whose brilliant water colors have been reproduced by the thousands, said in Jewish Memorial hospital here that "I look with great hope to the future in my art."

Dufy already has begun his "American Period," painting a land he never saw until his arrival for treatment the first week in April.

Dufy reported he is almost free of pain as the result of the use of the drugs. When he came to Boston for treatment he was able to move about only in the greatest of pain. This has virtually disappeared, he said.

CCC Loan Boost OK Draws Near

WASHINGTON, June 22—Agriculture Secretary Brannan's request for more financial authority with which to support farm prices is facing its final test.

A measure to boost the Commodity Credit Corp.'s borrowing limit by $2 billion to $6.75 billion, has been approved finally by the House and now awaits final Senate action.

The measure is virtually assured of prompt passage. Immediately that it does, the department is expected to issue a host of pending price support programs.

Transplanting Of Kidney Said To Be A Success

CHICAGO, June 22—Surgeons at the Little Company of Mary hospital have transplanted the kidney of a dead woman into the body of another woman suffering from an incurable kidney ailment.

The patient, Mrs. Howard Tucker, 49, of Chicago, was under close observation today, but final results of the operation which was performed last Saturday will not be known for at least two weeks.

BUC GIVES SUMMARY

Only 11 Unemployment Claims Are Filed Here

New claims for unemployment compensation took an upward jump in Pickaway County last week, according to a Bureau of Unemployment Compensation statistical report. Continued claims, however, were still dropping.

According to the report, 11 new claims were filed in the local BUC office last week, compared with seven for the week before.

The total of continued claims filed last week was 119, a drop from the 141 filed the previous week.

C. C. Thomas, local BUC manager, said that the state total of new claims filed last week was 7,492. This was lower than the 8,477 filed the week before.

Thomas said continued claims throughout the state totaled 67,304 last week, compared with 72,592 for the previous week.

The BUC manager said that more than 2,500 Ohio college graduates are now seeking employment through the 82 employment centers of the bureau.

OF THIS NUMBER, 2,012 are men graduates, 501 women and 1,375 veterans.

Employers interested in hiring college trained specialists may obtain complete information on the available graduates from their local employment center.

Most of the 98 elementary school teachers available, Thomas said, are presently being interviewed and are expected to have little trouble in finding jobs since shortage of elementary school teachers in Ohio is acute.

One or more graduates are seeking employment in airline management, industrial management, labor relations, radio production, mycology, petroleum, secretarial science, dressmaking and designing, foreign service and entomology.

Money Deposit Being Sought For School Funds

Bids and applications for two funds are being sought by Circleville board of education.

The education panel has instructed Clerk Virgil Cress to seek bids for deposit of the school's general fund and seek applications for deposit of an active building fund.

Cress said that both funds are set at maximums of $150,000, one which will be bid upon and the other which will be applied for.

The clerk said that interest may be accepted by the board from banking concerns on the general fund, although the board, by law, is unable to receive interest for its active building fund.

All four Circleville banks applied for the active building fund as the result of previous advertising but all four applications were rejected as unsuitable by the board.

The building fund monies will be used for construction of the new Caleb Atwater northend elementary school building, now under construction.

Bids and applications will be opened within the next few weeks.

Improvements Being Made At Schools Here

Virgil Cress, clerk to the city board of education, said that new steel swings are planned for all four elementary buildings, while various other improvements are considered for the grounds and classrooms.

The new steel braced swings planned for the schools will replace ancient, heavy-timbered supports which have been on local playgrounds for many years.

The clerk said that the heavy wooden braces are being replaced because of their age and deterioration.

In addition, each of the rooms in High Street elementary school are being fitted with new book cupboards, Cress said.

Meanwhile, the board authorized the removal of a large maple tree at the rear of the high school auditorium.

The board gave the OK for the removal of the heavy tree when Cress stated that it presented a hazard to the youngsters.

Skipper Likes New Ship Rule

NEW YORK, June 22—A tradition-breaking experiment of permitting captains to take their wives to sea was pronounced successful today by the Orion Shipping and Trading Co.

The line put the ruling into effect on its 22 American flag ships a year and a half ago to boost morale.

The captain said, "as soon as she signs her papers she starts obeying orders on the boat."

Mrs. Paxton put it this way: "I let him run the ship and I take care of the captain's quarters."

France To Seek 'End' To War

PARIS, June 22 — The French government announced today that it will propose formally on July 3 that the Western Powers declare that the state of war with Germany has come to an end.

The announcement followed convocation of the Schuman Plan conference in Paris at which Western Germany was accepted on a basis of equality for the first time since World War II broke out in 1939.

3-5 Pounds Disappear Safely First Few Days
16-23-35 Pounds And Even More In Few Short Weeks
MYNEX Plan Safe...REDUCES, YET EAT WHAT FOOD YOU WANT

TORONTO, ONTARIO: Up in Canada, you don't see many fat women any more and here's why. A few months ago an amazing new reducer called MYNEX was introduced in Canada. This approved simple and easy reducing success took Canada by storm. Thousands upon thousands of overweight Canadians lost bulging excess pounds and inches, and they lost this fat without suffering one excessively hungry moment—without taking dangerous drugs, without exercising!

Accepted for Advertising by Canadian Authorities

This sensational reducing plan called MYNEX is so safe it has been approved for advertising by Canadian authorities—and is now being offered in the United States on a trial offer so fair it calls for immediate acceptance. With MYNEX comes full dietary directions that say EAT PLENTY, even reduced portions of food you once thought fattening—yet fat goes fast.

WORKS WONDERS FOR FAT FOLKS

If you want to lose that 3 to 5 pounds excess fat you picked up overeating and do it safely and easily in a few days without drugs and without one excessively hungry moment. Try the amazing new MYNEX Plan. It's simple to use and makes reducing easier than you dreamed possible. You eat three meals a day and never suffer a too hungry moment. Fat goes from chin, neck, bust, stomach, arms, thighs, legs, ankles, etc.—yes, fat goes fast—as much as a pound a day. So don't be fat when it's fun to reduce the Canadian way with MYNEX Plan.

EAT MYNEX CONCENTRATED VITAMIN MINERAL TABLETS

Putting on a little weight, aren't you, Agnes? Say, Jane, that dress sure fits tight! Oh, I'll be embarrassed to wear my new season dresses. Wonder if these extra 10 pounds will make any difference when I see John next month? She's too fat, she's too fat for me!

Canadian overeaters who found usual reducing methods too hard, too tiring and too nerve-wracking, by the thousands acclaimed new MYNEX as the greatest reducing plan they have had in 25 years! MYNEX tablets are tiny, completely safe, containing identical vitamins and minerals doctors often recommend to fight off tired, weak, rundown feeling due to vitamin and mineral deficiencies when fat comes off too fast.

DON'T BE FAT

Your doctor's recommendation and approval of the NEW MYNEX PLAN is invited. If you are in good health and want to stop getting fat and take off 3 to 5 pounds the first few days, or if you want to lose up to 35 lbs. or even more. Get your MYNEX Tablets today. It's not too late to take off those ugly pounds.

BUC GIVES SUMMARY

Only 11 Unemployment Claims Are Filed Here

New claims for unemployment compensation took an upward jump in Pickaway County last week, according to a Bureau of Unemployment Compensation statistical report. Continued claims, however, were still dropping.

According to the report, 11 new claims were filed in the local BUC office last week, compared with seven for the week before.

The total of continued claims filed last week was 119, a drop from the 141 filed the previous week.

C. C. Thomas, local BUC manager, said that the state total of new claims filed last week was 7,492. This was lower than the 8,477 filed the week before.

Thomas said continued claims throughout the state totaled 67,304 last week, compared with 72,592 for the previous week.

The BUC manager said that more than 2,500 Ohio college graduates are now seeking employment through the 82 employment centers of the bureau.

OF THIS NUMBER, 2,012 are men graduates, 501 women and 1,375 veterans.

Employers interested in hiring college trained specialists may obtain complete information on the available graduates from their local employment center.

Among those registered are graduates in business administration, commerce, high school teachers, and chemical, civil, electrical, mechanical, architectural aeronautical industrial and metallurgical engineers.

Two graduates are television engineers, two are radio engineers, and one is a mining engineer.

Most of the 98 elementary school teachers available, Thomas said, are presently being interviewed and are expected to have little trouble in finding jobs since shortage of elementary school teachers in Ohio is acute.

One or more graduates are seeking employment in airline management, industrial management, labor relations, radio production, mycology, petroleum, secretarial science, dressmaking and designing, foreign service and entomology.

Money Deposit Being Sought For School Funds

Bids and applications for two funds are being sought by Circleville board of education.

The education panel has instructed Clerk Virgil Cress to seek bids for deposit of the school's general fund and seek applications for deposit of an active building fund.

Cress said that both funds are set at maximums of $150,000, one which will be bid upon and the other which will be applied for.

The clerk said that interest may be accepted by the board from banking concerns on the general fund, although the board, by law, is unable to receive interest for its active building fund.

All four Circleville banks applied for the active building fund as the result of previous advertising but all four applications were rejected as unsuitable by the board.

The building fund monies will be used for construction of the new Caleb Atwater northend elementary school building, now under construction.

Bids and applications will be opened within the next few weeks.

Improvements Being Made At Schools Here

Circleville schools are being made ready now for the surge of youngsters expected this Fall.

Virgil Cress, clerk to the city board of education, said that new steel swings are planned for all four elementary buildings, while various other improvements are considered for the grounds and classrooms.

The new steel braced swings planned for the schools will replace ancient, heavy-timbered supports which have been on local playgrounds for many years.

The clerk said that the heavy wooden braces are being replaced because of their age and deterioration.

In addition, each of the rooms in High Street elementary school are being fitted with new book cupboards, Cress said.

The cupboards are being installed by Janitors Ralph Ward, D. L. Tracy and Bill Friece. Other janitors in the system are devoting their time to painting and making minor repairs in their respective buildings.

Meanwhile, the board authorized the removal of a large maple tree at the rear of the high school auditorium.

The board gave the OK for the removal of the heavy tree when Cress stated that it presented a hazard to the youngsters.

Skipper Likes New Ship Rule

NEW YORK, June 22—A tradition-breaking experiment of permitting captains to take their wives to sea was pronounced successful today by the Orion Shipping and Trading Co.

The line put the ruling into effect on its 22 American flag ships a year and a half ago to boost morale.

The captain said, "as soon as she signs her papers she starts obeying orders on the boat."

Mrs. Paxton put it this way: "I let him run the ship and I take care of the captain's quarters."

France To Seek 'End' To War

PARIS, June 22 — The French government announced today that it will propose formally on July 3 that the Western Powers declare that the state of war with Germany has come to an end.

The announcement followed convocation of the Schuman Plan conference in Paris at which Western Germany was accepted on a basis of equality for the first time since World War II broke out in 1939.

Nearly $200 Await Horse Show Winners

Awards will be made for $10 to the winner, $6 to second and $3 to third in all of the events except pony class 45" and under. Awards in the class will consist of four awards of $2 each.

Judge for the show will be Clarence Frederick, while Harry Margulis will announce the program.

The horse show will be followed by dancing in the park, and fireworks will be displayed beginning at 10:30 p. m.

Meeker Terwilliger, et. al., Defendants. No. 16050

Ruth Dunham, who resides at 789 15th Street, Boulder, Colorado; George Earl Terwilliger, who resides at 2927 Eagle Rock Boulevard, Los Angeles, California; Grace Brown, who resides at 2421 East Speedway, Tuscon, Arizona; Wright Terwilliger, who resides at 507 East Channel Street, Stockton, California; Wayne Oliver Terwilliger, whose residence is unknown and Lulu Davis, whose residence is unknown, will take notice that Meeker Terwilliger, executor of the estate of Belle T. Gearhart, deceased, on the 20th day of June, 1950, filed his petition in the Probate Court within and for the County of Pickaway and State of Ohio, allges that the personal estate of said decedent is insufficient to pay her debts and the charges of administering her estate; that she died in fee simple of the following described real estate situated in the County of Pickaway, State of Ohio, and City of Circleville, and bounded and described as follows, to-wit:

On the North side of Watt Street in said City, and being thirty three (33) feet and two (2) inches off of the West side of the East one half of lot number one hundred thirty (130) according to the revised numbering of the lots of said City of Circleville, Ohio, and being the same premises which were conveyed to said Belle T. Gearhart by Grace M. Ritz and Carl Ritz by deed dated March 31, 1917, which deed is recorded in Vol. 95 at page 283 of the Deed Records of Pickaway County, Ohio.

Said grantors Grace Ritz et. al. are the owners of the whole of the east one-half of said Lot No. 130; there is a dwelling now located on the western portion of said half lot herein conveyed and one on the eastern part of said lot which is retained by the grantors; both of said dwellings front on Watt Street; the space between said two dwellings is seven feet and four inches; it is the agreement of the parties to this conveyance that the divided line between the premises herein conveyed, and the part of said half lot which is retained by grantors, be, and said dividing line hereby is fixed and located midway between said two dwellings, that is three feet and eight inches from each of said dwellings.

Said property located at 162 Watt Street.

The prayer of said petition is for the sale of said premises for the purpose of the payment of the debts and charges aforesaid in said estate. The persons first above mentioned will further take notice that they have each and all been made parties defendant to said petition and that they are required to answer the same on or before the 19th day of August, 1950.

ORDINANCE NO. 3620

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE SALE OF $90,00 OF FIRST MORTGAGE WATER REVENUE BONDS.

WHEREAS, by Ordinance No. 3274 duly adopted by this Council on March 6, 1946, first mortgage water revenue bonds of the City of Circleville were authorized to be issued in the principal amount of $550,000 for the purpose of acquiring and extending the waterworks plant and system serving the city, and

WHEREAS, of said issue of $550,000 of bonds authorized as aforesaid, bonds of the principal amount of $460,000 have been issued and sold and the waterworks plant and system acquired with the proceeds thereof, said bonds being secured by an Indenture of Mortgage from the City of Circleville to The Huntington National Bank of Columbus, as Trustee and a franchise stating the terms upon which a purchaser, upon foreclosure, may operate said waterworks plant and system, and

WHEREAS, under the provisions of Section 3 of said ordinance No. 3274 and Article One, Section 3 of the Indenture the remaining $90,000 of said total authorized issue of $550,000 may be sold to pay the cost of acquiring and constructing extensions and improvements to said waterworks plant and system, and

WHEREAS, it is presently necessary to extend and improve the said waterworks plant and system as hereinafter set forth, and for such purpose to sell said $90,000 of authorized but unissued bonds,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of Circleville, Ohio, three-fourths of all of the members elected thereto concurring:

SECTION 1. That there be issued and sold the remaining $90,000 of first mortgage water revenue bonds of the City of Circleville, Ohio, of the total authorized issue of $550,000 for the purpose of paying the cost of acquiring and constructing necessary extensions and improvements to the waterworks plant and system of the city, including the construction of additional mains and providing an increase in the supply of water to the users thereof, all as provided in said Ordinance No. 3274 adopted March 6, 1946.

SECTION 2. That said bonds shall be issued in the principal amount of $90,000 for the purpose aforesaid. As further provided in said Ordinance No. 3274, they shall be dated April 1, 1946, of the denomination of $1,000 each, numbered 461 to 550, inclusive, and shall mature in their consecutive numerical order on October 1 of each of the following years in the following amounts:

$24,000 in 1975;
$25,000 in 1976; and
$26,000 in 1977.

Said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of 2-¾ per cent per annum payable semi-annually on April 1 and October 1 of each year, beginning October 1, 1950, and both principal of and interest on said bonds shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the office of the City Treasurer in Circleville, Ohio, or at the option of the holder at the principal office of The Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago, Illinois.

SECTION 3. Said bonds are hereby awarded and shall be executed, sold and delivered to Stifel, Nicolaus and Co., Inc., of Chicago, Illinois, upon payment therefor in accordance with their offer to purchase said bonds which is now on file with Council, which is hereby accepted.

SECTION 4. That in accordance with the provisions of said Ordinance No. 3274 and the Indenture of Mortgage, a certified copy of this ordinance be filed by the City Auditor with The Huntington National Bank of Columbus, Ohio, as Trustee under the Indenture securing said bonds, and this ordinance shall constitute a request to said Trustee to authenticate the bonds herein provided to be sold.

SECTION 5 That when said $90,000 of bonds have been prepared, executed, authenticated, delivered and paid for as in this ordinance, Ordinance No. 3274 and the Indenture provided, said bonds shall constitute legal and binding obligations of the City of Circleville in accordance with their terms and provisions, payable from and having an exclusive first lien upon the revenues and properties of the waterworks plant and system on a parity, as to both principal and interest, with the other bonds of said authorized issue of $550,000 heretofore issued and sold.

SECTION 6. That the Mayor and City Treasurer be and they hereby are authorized and directed to execute and deliver to the Trustee any supplemental Indenture which may be deemed necessary by the purchasers for the purpose of securing the bonds hereby sold under the terms and provisions of the Indenture of Mortgage. Said officers are also authorized and directed to execute an affidavit of chattel mortgage for the purpose of subjecting the chattel property of the waterworks plant and system to the lien of said bonds.

SECTION 7. This ordinance is declared to be an emergency measure for the reason that the public peace, health and safety of the inhabitants of the City of Circleville require the immediate construction of the improvements contemplated herein, and it shall take effect immediately upon its passage and approval by the Mayor.

Passed this 6th day of June 1950.
Ben H. Gordon
President of Council

Attest: Fred R. Nicholas
Clerk of Council.
Approved this 9th day of June, 1950.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC SALE OF REAL ESTATE

Sealed bids will be received at the office of the Auditor of Pickaway County at the Court House, Circleville, Ohio until 10:00 A. M.—Ohio Standard Time Monday, July 24, 1950 for the purchase of the following described real estate.

DESCRIPTION

Description of Pickaway County Land (partially occupied by Old Gravel Bank) located east of Circleville-Commercial Point Road No 4 and bounded on east and south by lands of Mary Short and on West and Northwest by land of Hobart and Goldie Amann and on Northeast by lane running easterly to Jackson Township School (now torn down) in Jackson District in Circleville Township.

Beginning at a large Iron Stake, (X-Beam) Northeast corner to Hobart and Goldie Amann's 2.835 Acre tract, from which an Iron Stake (the southwest corner to 3.00 Acre lot purchased from Theodore Carle by Pickaway County Commissioners July 6, 1926 recorded in Vol. 106, page 261 of Pickaway County Deed of Records) bears N 61 deg. 54'35" E. 52.02 feet distant.

Thence with the east line of Amann's extended N. 16 deg. .09' W. 5.16 feet to a point in the south easement (Roadway) line to County Gravel Bank purchased from Theodore Carle.

Thence with the south easement line S.89° 27'' E. (passing 20 ft. to the right of, and at a right angle to this line, the Iron Stake Marking the Southwest Corner of 3.00 Acre Gravel Bank, at 46.99 feet.) 297.87 feet to an iron pipe on the north side of a corner fence past the north west corner of 1.25 Acre Lot of Mary Short.

Thence with another line of Mary Short S.41 deg. 00' W. 480.46 feet (passing an iron pin at 385.7 feet) to center line of 1950 relocation of Circleville-Commercial Point Road No 4, at center line Sta. 53-98.75.

Thence with the cord of an 8 deg. curve N. 34 deg. 49' W. 30.94 feet to a point (at Sta. 54-29.69 feet) in the south line of Hobart and Goldie Amann 2.835 Acre tract.

Thence with Amann's line N. 41 deg. 00' E. 218.18 feet (passing an iron pin at 94.76 feet) to an automobile axle with gear top the south east corner of Amann.

The above described property is located in the S. E. Quarter of Fractional Section No. 3; Township 4; Range 22 in Circleville Township, Pickaway County, Ohio.

Said sale is authorized pursuant to resolution—passed by the Board of County Commissioners of Pickaway on June 19, 1950 and General Code 2447 and 2447-1 and will be made to the highest responsible bidder. The Board of County Commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

ORDINANCE NO. 3620

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE SALE OF $90,00 OF FIRST MORTGAGE WATER REVENUE BONDS.

WHEREAS, by Ordinance No. 3274 duly adopted by this Council on March 6, 1946, first mortgage water revenue bonds of the City of Circleville were authorized to be issued in the principal amount of $550,000 for the purpose of acquiring and extending the waterworks plant and system serving the city, and

WHEREAS, of said issue of $550,000 of bonds authorized as aforesaid, bonds of the principal amount of $460,000 have been issued and sold and the waterworks plant and system acquired with the proceeds thereof, said bonds being secured by an Indenture of Mortgage from the City of Circleville to The Huntington National Bank of Columbus, as Trustee and a franchise stating the terms upon which a purchaser, upon foreclosure, may operate said waterworks plant and system, and

WHEREAS, under the provisions of Section 3 of said ordinance No. 3274 and Article One, Section 3 of the Indenture the remaining $90,000 of said total authorized issue of $550,000 may be sold to pay the cost of acquiring and constructing extensions and improvements to said waterworks plant and system, and

WHEREAS, it is presently necessary to extend and improve the said waterworks plant and system as hereinafter set forth, and for such purpose to sell said $90,000 of authorized but unissued bonds,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of Circleville, Ohio, three-fourths of all of the members elected thereto concurring:

SECTION 1. That there be issued and sold the remaining $90,000 of first mortgage water revenue bonds of the City of Circleville, Ohio, of the total authorized issue of $550,000 for the purpose of paying the cost of acquiring and constructing necessary extensions and improvements to the waterworks plant and system of the city, including the construction of additional mains and providing an increase in the supply of water to the users thereof, all as provided in said Ordinance No. 3274 adopted March 6, 1946.

SECTION 2. That said bonds shall be issued in the principal amount of $90,000 for the purpose aforesaid. As further provided in said Ordinance No. 3274, they shall be dated April 1, 1946, of the denomination of $1,000 each, numbered 461 to 550, inclusive, and shall mature in their consecutive numerical order on October 1 of each of the following years in the following amounts:

$15,000 in 1974;
$24,000 in 1975;
$25,000 in 1976; and
$26,000 in 1977.

Said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of 2-¾ per cent per annum payable semi-annually on April 1 and October 1 of each year, beginning October 1, 1950, and both principal of and interest on said bonds shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the office of the City Treasurer in Circleville, Ohio, or at the option of the holder at the principal office of The Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago, Illinois.

SECTION 3. Said bonds are hereby awarded and shall be executed, sold and delivered to Stifel, Nicolaus and Co., Inc., of Chicago, Illinois, upon payment therefor in accordance with their offer to purchase said bonds which is now on file with Council, which is hereby accepted.

SECTION 4. That in accordance with the provisions of said Ordinance No. 3274 and the Indenture of Mortgage, a certified copy of this ordinance be filed by the City Auditor with The Huntington National Bank of Columbus, Ohio, as Trustee under the Indenture securing said bonds, and this ordinance shall constitute a request to said Trustee to authenticate the bonds herein provided to be sold.

SECTION 5. That when said $90,000 of bonds have been prepared, executed, authenticated, delivered and paid for as in this ordinance, Ordinance No. 3274 and the Indenture provided, said bonds shall constitute legal and binding obligations of the City of Circleville in accordance with their terms and provisions, payable from and having an exclusive first lien upon the revenues and properties of the waterworks plant and system on a parity, as to both principal and interest, with the other bonds of said authorized issue of $550,000 heretofore issued and sold.

SECTION 6. That the Mayor and City Treasurer be and they hereby are authorized and directed to execute and deliver to the Trustee any supplemental Indenture which may be deemed necessary by the purchasers for the purpose of securing the bonds hereby sold under the terms and provisions of the Indenture of Mortgage. Said officers are also authorized and directed to execute an affidavit of chattel mortgage for the purpose of subjecting the chattel property of the waterworks plant and system to the lien of said bonds.

SECTION 7. This ordinance is declared to be an emergency measure for the reason that the public peace, health and safety of the inhabitants of the City of Circleville require the immediate construction of the improvements contemplated herein, and it shall take effect immediately upon its passage and approval by the Mayor.

Passed this 6th day of June 1950.
Ben H. Gordon
President of Council
Attest: Fred R. Nicholas
Clerk of Council.
Approved this 9th day of June, 1950.

ONLY SIX BREAK PAR

Furgol, Harbert Set Pace In PGA Qualifying Test

COLUMBUS, June 22 — Two veteran trampers of the tournament byways started the second half of the 36-hole PGA qualifier here today with a slender one-stroke lead.

Marty Furgol, Albuquerque, N. Mex., play-for-pay artist, and Chick Harbert of Detroit fired two-under-par 70s yesterday to take the 18-hole lead on the rolling 7,061-yard Scioto Country Club course.

Sixty-four survivors of yesterday's play and another 18 holes today will qualify for match play which begins tomorrow and continues until the champion is determined next Tuesday.

Although medalist honors are worth $250, most of the pros were content with mere qualification in these opening rounds. Nevertheless, gone were the 65 to 69 scores of practice rounds. Be it tournament or what the scores were higher than anticipated at sun-bathed Scioto.

In fact, it seemed that more than the predicted 150 card will qualify for match play. Only six players defeated old man par—72—yesterday, and only 13 others equalled standard figures.

BUNCHED BEHIND Furgol an Harbert at 71 were Johnny Palmer, the 1949 runnerup to Sam Snead, Dick Metz, Ellsworth Vines, the reformed tennis player, and Al Watrous.

Snead, who is exempted from the qualifier but is playing anyway "for practice"—and the $250 bonus — shot a 72. So did Lloyd Mangrum, who ranks with Snead as tourney favorite, and Bob Hamilton, the 1944 champion.

Seventy-two was the high water mark for the non-"name" pros. The par-makers included Bob Tucker of Paramount, Cal.; Frank Commisso of Brighton Station, N. Y.; Sam Bernardi of Ft. Sheridan, Ill., Ted Kroll of Philmont, Pa.; Al Smith of Winston-Salem, N. C.; Gene Kunes of Cleveland; Leland Gibson of Kansas City; Al Brosch of Garden City, N. Y.; Charles Sheppard of West Newton, Mass., and Charles Bassler, Catonsville, Md.

Behind them came such well-known stars as Claude Harmon, George Schneiter and Pete Cooper, all of whom had 73s, and Dutch Harrison, Jim Ferrier, George Fazio, Lew Worsham, Jimmy Hines, Denny Shute, Sam Byrd and Jimmy Demaret, all with 74s.

Dave Douglas, the Wilmington, Del., ace who set a course record of 65 in practice, fell off to 76 yesterday. He hit a creek with his second shot on No. 8, wound up with an eight and took a 40 for the first nine.

The fifth hole, a par-four job with a sloping green, and the 14th, a par-three 249-yarder, bothered the pros the most. Some of them complained that the greens possessed a wicked cross-grain, but others—such as Mangrum—found the course no more difficult than normal.

As for Harbert and Furgol, they seemed to experience few difficulties. Harbert, 1947 runner-up to Ferrier, bogied only two holes—the fourth, which he three-putted, and the 15th, on which his approach was bad. He more than compensated with four birdies.

Furgol, back in action after a long layoff due to a back injury, took a 37 going out. He was even with par until he birdied the 17th then sunk a 20-foot putt for an eagle on the difficult par-five 18th.

Legion Juniors Hold Big Boys Half Of Tilt

Both teams to date have suffered one loss in the double-elimination contest, both losing to the highly favored Portsmouth junior team.

The Sunday game will determine which team is to be dropped from tournament competition. The game is scheduled to begin at about 2 p. m.

Rose Bowl Pact Renewal Seen

MADISON, Wis., June 22—Committees from the Western and Pacific Coast Conferences announced here last night that the Rose Bowl pact probably will be renewed, but no final decision will be made until May, 1951.

The present agreement ends with the football game in Pasadena, Cal., next New Year's Day.

Big Ten representatives were instructed a month ago to "negotiate for a renewal of the pact." The Coast group said they had no instructions.

Dunlaps Held To 2 Hits As Boyers Romp

Behind the almost faultless elbowing of Pitcher Stillman Morrison the Boyer aggregation permitted only two hits in the shutout match. Morrison fanned seven.

Dunlaps permitted one run in the first frame, two in the second, another single in the third and three in the fourth before settling down to keep the Boyers crew scoreless during the final three innings.

Boyers is scheduled to meet Tabernacle Baptist church softballers of Chillicothe in the park at 8 p. m. Thursday for an exhibition engagement.

The locals will travel to Chillicothe Saturday for a return bout with the same team.

Meanwhile, Top Hat softball team has doubleheaders scheduled in the park for 8 p. m. both Friday and Saturday.

The Hatters will meet Lancaster RBM's Friday and the Lancaster Glassers Saturday.

Line score of Wednesday's game follows:

Ashville Reds Hope For Tie In HOL Test

Ashville Reds baseball team will seek a tie for first round championship in the Heart of Ohio League Sunday when it plays host to Ben Brews.

A win Sunday by the Reds would give Ashville a tie for the title with Chillicothe. Ashville's record to date is five wins in six starts, while Chillicothe holds a half game advantage with six wins in seven starts.

If Ashville should win Sunday's match, a playoff between the Reds and Chillicothe will be held next Thursday under the lights in Grove City.

Ben Brew baseballers hold third place in HOL standings to date, ranking just behind the Reds. A win by Ben Brew Sunday, however, still would rank the Columbus team third while Ashville would automatically take over second place.

Sunday's contest is slated to begin at about 2:30 p. m. in Ashville Community Park.

Breeze-On Wins 7th Of 8 Starts

WESTBURY, L. I., June 22—Breeze-On scored his seventh win in eight starts this season in the Allied Pace at Roosevelt Raceway last night by crossing the wire in 2:04 for a four-length victory over Scott Blackstone. Harold Abbe was third.

Cuban Duo Tops Tigers 2 Straight

Senators Collect Another Victory

NEW YORK, June 22—Red Rolfe's suddenly grounded flying Tigers didn't have to enroll in a rhumba, samba or mambo course today to learn about things Cuban.

Detroit had a pretty thorough going-over in Cuban form from the Havana files of Bucky Harris.

Sandalio Consuegra was the second half of the act yesterday as he rationed the Bengals to five hits and beat them, 12 to 4, for his second major league win without a loss.

The Nats, inspired by the 29-year-old rookie's fine hurling, pounced on Prince Hal Newhouser and three relievers for a total of 14 safeties, including a two-run homer by Sam Mele.

The first part of the story unfolded Tuesday for the Tigers when Washington's little Chico Marrero limited them to four hits while he bested them 4 to 2.

TWO LOSSES in a row and a nine hit total in two days has the Bengals convinced that pitching—Cuban style—must be a thing of mystery. Anyway, they're learning.

At least the Rolfemen were fortunate yesterday in that they failed to lose any ground to the New York Yankees.

The Yankees ran into some extra-good pitching on the part of Cleveland's Early Wynn. The righthander gave up only four hits as he hurled the Indians to a 5 to 1 win over the world champions. A ninth inning homer by Bobby Brown upset Wynn's bid for a blank job.

Boston's unpredictable Red Sox had the same problem as the Tigers and the Yankees. They came up against a commendable seven-hit performance by Chicago Lefthander Bill Pierce and they bowed to the White Sox, 3 to 1.

The foundering Philadelphia Athletics finally won a game after six straight losses. Bob Hooper went the bulk of the way last night as the A's turned back the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 2.

A couple of streaks went thataway in the National League and for this apparently simple reason Brooklyn and St. Louis are tied for first place once again.

Brooklyn's five-game winning streak went down the Ebbets Field drain when Peanuts Lowrey doubled in the ninth inning to give the Cincinnati Reds three runs and a 6 to 5 victory.

And the Cardinals righted themselves after four straight losses by pounding five pitchers for 17 hits and a 14 to 6 victory over the New York Giants.

A THREE-RUN sixth inning gave the Pittsburgh Pirates and Young Bill MacDonald a 5 to 3 night game triumph over Robin Roberts and the Philadelphia Phillies. A triple by Ralph Kiner in the big sixth inning drove in the 500th run of his career.

Johnny Schmitz gained his seventh win when he blanked the Boston Braves, 3 to 0, in another night contest. A two-run homer by Bill Serena gave Schmitz all the runs he needed.

Segura Irked By Poor Pro Tennis Payoff

NEW YORK, June 22—Francisco "Pancho" Segura, newly-crowned national professional tennis champion, said today he is through playing tennis "for peanuts."

The conqueror of Jack Kramer added: "Why, I got almost as much for expenses as an amateur as I have made as a pro.

"On my recent Winter tour, Kramer and Promoter Bobby Riggs got all the dough. About $60,000 for Kramer and $40,000 for Riggs.

"I used to get as high as $400 a week for an amateur tournament, for expenses.

"I'm 29 years old now and it's about time for me to cash in. If Riggs wants to team me up with Kramer on another tour I'll have to get some real money.

"If Riggs doesn't want me, I may stage my own tour."

Seventy-two was the high water mark for the non-"name" pros. The par-makers included Bob Tucker of Paramount, Cal.; Frank Commisso of Brighton Station, N. Y.; Sam Bernardi of Ft. Sheridan, Ill., Ted Kroll of Philmont, Pa.; Al Smith of Winston-Salem, N. C.; Gene Kunes of Cleveland; Leland Gibson of Kansas City; Al Brosch of Garden City, N. Y.; Charles Sheppard of West Newton, Mass., and Charles Bassler, Catonsville, Md.

Behind them came such well-known stars as Claude Harmon, George Schneiter and Pete Cooper, all of whom had 73s, and Dutch Harrison, Jim Ferrier, George Fazio, Lew Worsham, Jimmy Hines, Denny Shute, Sam Byrd and Jimmy Demaret, all with 74s.

Dave Douglas, the Wilmington, Del., ace who set a course record of 65 in practice, fell off to 76 yesterday. He hit a creek with his second shot on No. 8, wound up with an eight and took a 40 for the first nine.

The fifth hole, a par-four job with a sloping green, and the 14th, a par-three 249-yarder, bothered the pros the most. Some of them complained that the greens possessed a wicked cross-grain, but others—such as Mangrum—found the course no more difficult than normal.

As for Harbert and Furgol, they seemed to experience few difficulties. Harbert, 1947 runner-up to Ferrier, bogied only two holes—the fourth, which he three-putted, and the 15th, on which his approach was bad. He more than compensated with four birdies.

Furgol, back in action after a long layoff due to a back injury, took a 37 going out. He was even with par until he birdied the 17th then sunk a 20-foot putt for an eagle on the difficult par-five 18th.

Legion Juniors Hold Big Boys Half Of Tilt

Both teams to date have suffered one loss in the double-elimination contest, both losing to the highly favored Portsmouth junior team.

The Sunday game will determine which team is to be dropped from tournament competition. The game is scheduled to begin at about 2 p. m.

Rose Bowl Pact Renewal Seen

MADISON, Wis., June 22—Committees from the Western and Pacific Coast Conferences announced here last night that the Rose Bowl pact probably will be renewed, but no final decision will be made until May, 1951.

The present agreement ends with the football game in Pasadena, Cal., next New Year's Day.

Big Ten representatives were instructed a month ago to "negotiate for a renewal of the pact." The Coast group said they had no instructions.

Dunlaps Held To 2 Hits As Boyers Romp

Behind the almost faultless elbowing of Pitcher Stillman Morrison the Boyer aggregation permitted only two hits in the shutout match. Morrison fanned seven.

Dunlaps permitted one run in the first frame, two in the second, another single in the third and three in the fourth before settling down to keep the Boyers crew scoreless during the final three innings.

Boyers is scheduled to meet Tabernacle Baptist church softballers of Chillicothe in the park at 8 p. m. Thursday for an exhibition engagement.

The locals will travel to Chillicothe Saturday for a return bout with the same team.

Meanwhile, Top Hat softball team has doubleheaders scheduled in the park for 8 p. m. both Friday and Saturday.

The Hatters will meet Lancaster RBM's Friday and the Lancaster Glassers Saturday.

Line score of Wednesday's game follows:

Ashville Reds Hope For Tie In HOL Test

Ashville Reds baseball team will seek a tie for first round championship in the Heart of Ohio League Sunday when it plays host to Ben Brews.

A win Sunday by the Reds would give Ashville a tie for the title with Chillicothe. Ashville's record to date is five wins in six starts, while Chillicothe holds a half game advantage with six wins in seven starts.

If Ashville should win Sunday's match, a playoff between the Reds and Chillicothe will be held next Thursday under the lights in Grove City.

Ben Brew baseballers hold third place in HOL standings to date, ranking just behind the Reds. A win by Ben Brew Sunday, however, still would rank the Columbus team third while Ashville would automatically take over second place.

Sunday's contest is slated to begin at about 2:30 p. m. in Ashville Community Park.

Segura Irked By Poor Pro Tennis Payoff

NEW YORK, June 22—Francisco "Pancho" Segura, newly-crowned national professional tennis champion, said today he is through playing tennis "for peanuts."

The conqueror of Jack Kramer added: "Why, I got almost as much for expenses as an amateur as I have made as a pro.

"On my recent Winter tour, Kramer and Promoter Bobby Riggs got all the dough. About $60,000 for Kramer and $40,000 for Riggs.

"I used to get as high as $400 a week for an amateur tournament, for expenses.

"I'm 29 years old now and it's about time for me to cash in. If Riggs wants to team me up with Kramer on another tour I'll have to get some real money.

"If Riggs doesn't want me, I may stage my own tour."

Breeze-On Wins 7th Of 8 Starts

WESTBURY, L. I., June 22—Breeze-On scored his seventh win in eight starts this season in the Allied Pace at Roosevelt Raceway last night by crossing the wire in 2:04 for a four-length victory over Scott Blackstone. Harold Abbe was third.

Cuban Duo Tops Tigers 2 Straight

Senators Collect Another Victory

NEW YORK, June 22—Red Rolfe's suddenly grounded flying Tigers didn't have to enroll in a rhumba, samba or mambo course today to learn about things Cuban.

Detroit had a pretty thorough going-over in Cuban form from the Havana files of Bucky Harris.

Sandalio Consuegra was the second half of the act yesterday as he rationed the Bengals to five hits and beat them, 12 to 4, for his second major league win without a loss.

The Nats, inspired by the 29-year-old rookie's fine hurling, pounced on Prince Hal Newhouser and three relievers for a total of 14 safeties, including a two-run homer by Sam Mele.

The first part of the story unfolded Tuesday for the Tigers when Washington's little Chico Marrero limited them to four hits while he bested them 4 to 2.

TWO LOSSES in a row and a nine hit total in two days has the Bengals convinced that pitching—Cuban style—must be a thing of mystery. Anyway, they're learning.

At least the Rolfemen were fortunate yesterday in that they failed to lose any ground to the New York Yankees.

The Yankees ran into some extra-good pitching on the part of Cleveland's Early Wynn. The righthander gave up only four hits as he hurled the Indians to a 5 to 1 win over the world champions. A ninth inning homer by Bobby Brown upset Wynn's bid for a blank job.

Boston's unpredictable Red Sox had the same problem as the Tigers and the Yankees. They came up against a commendable seven-hit performance by Chicago Lefthander Bill Pierce and they bowed to the White Sox, 3 to 1.

The foundering Philadelphia Athletics finally won a game after six straight losses. Bob Hooper went the bulk of the way last night as the A's turned back the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 2.

A couple of streaks went thataway in the National League and for this apparently simple reason Brooklyn and St. Louis are tied for first place once again.

Brooklyn's five-game winning streak went down the Ebbets Field drain when Peanuts Lowrey doubled in the ninth inning to give the Cincinnati Reds three runs and a 6 to 5 victory.

And the Cardinals righted themselves after four straight losses by pounding five pitchers for 17 hits and a 14 to 6 victory over the New York Giants.

A THREE-RUN sixth inning gave the Pittsburgh Pirates and Young Bill MacDonald a 5 to 3 night game triumph over Robin Roberts and the Philadelphia Phillies. A triple by Ralph Kiner in the big sixth inning drove in the 500th run of his career.

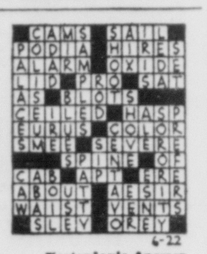

Johnny Schmitz gained his seventh win when he blanked the Boston Braves, 3 to 0, in another night contest. A two-run homer by Bill Serena gave Schmitz all the runs he needed.

County's Schools Found 'Average' In Tax Millage Output

Chamber Commerce Gives Data

'Additional' State Aid Is Outlined

Pickaway County ranks about midway up the ladder in Ohio in its effort to provide sufficient educational funds.

According to a statistical report released by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, Pickaway County is about "average" in its willingness to support its school program.

The detailed chamber report, published for the purpose of pointing out that the state should revise its method of granting state aid, contains exacting reports on millage, tax evaluation, state aid and "additional" aid for each of Ohio's school districts.

The report shows that the local school districts are putting forth the "effort" via their current operating expense millages.

This county's millage effort, according to the report, averages at more than eight mills per district while many of the other Ohio counties average at from between six and eight mills.

ON THE OTHER hand, some counties—such as Cuyahoga, Miami, Medina, Clark, Portage, Summit, Trumbull and Wyandot—rank much higher than the local average.

Trumbull County, for instance, carries an average of 11.96 for each of its 31 school districts while Cuyahoga carries an average of 12.41 for each of its 32 districts. The total tax valuaton in Cuyahoga County is set at $2,526,634,000 and in Trumbull is set at $275,550,000.

However, it is the "additional" aid which is being pointed out by the chamber. "Additional" aid is defined as:

"The amount which the school foundation program law guarantees to a school district in addition to the sum of the flat distribution and the computed amount of a tax levy of 4½ mills on the tax duplicate of the district."

The report asks "should 'additional' state aid be granted when a district's taxable valuations are too low or the school tax rate is no more than $6 or $7 per $1,000 valuation?"

Pickaway County has barely cleared the hump in both categories in the report, based on 1948 evaluations.

The report shows that the county's 18 school districts make an average "effort" at footing their own bill by averaging 8.55 mills, or $8.55 per $1,000 valuation.

Only two local school districts are listed with a current operating expense millage of less than seven. They are Harrison Local with a 5.7 millage figure and Muhlenberg Local with a 6.2 millage. Neither of the schools has debt retirement taxes.

HARRISON LOCAL with its tax valuation listed at $8,847,000 receives no "additional" state aid while Muhlenberg Local with but a $1,341,000 duplicate receives $28 per pupil in "additional" aid.

Circleville city school district applies 8.90 mills against its $11,657,000 duplicate for current operation plus a 2.50 debt retirement tax.

In addition to its regular state foundation fund aid, set at $126,380, the Circleville district receives an "additional" aid of $32,727 or approximately $19 per pupil.

Pickaway County ranges at about the middle in per pupil "additional" aid with an average of $30. Lowest per pupil "additional" aid falls to Cuyahoga County, whose millage is among the highest in the state, at $2 per pupil; to Noble County, whose millage is among the lowest, with a per pupil average of $83.

Those figures tend to show, according to the report, that the counties which are striving to carry their own school cost burden also are helping to pay for the counties which fall down on the job.

Five local school districts receive no "additional" aid at all because of their relatively high millage, which gives them ample operating expense.

They are Harrison local, with its 5.70 mills on $8,847,000; New Holland with 12 mills applied against its $1,848,000 duplicate; Perry Local with 8 mills applied against its $1,614,000 duplicate; Pickaway Local with 10 mills against its $5,642,000; and Scioto Local with 10.60 mills against its $2,277,000 duplicate.

PICKAWAY County schools boasted an average daily membership of 5,335 pupils with a per pupil state support of approximately $84. The county's state aid total was $449,848, plus $159,298 in "additional" aid.

Circleville Township Local, although having no schools in operation, carried a total millage of 7.35 mills against its $559,000 duplicate to pay tuition for its pupils. It received only $907 in state aid in behalf of its tuition pupils, most of whom entered Circleville schools.

Highest local per pupil "additional" aid average in Pickaway County was paid to Saltcreek Local, which was awarded $66 per pupil.

Saltcreek applied a millage of 8.70 against its $1,781,000 duplicate, however, while sponsoring another 2 mills in its debt retirement.

In all, Saltcreek received $33,539 in regular state aid and $18,122 in "additional" aid, according to the report.

Franklin Local district in Franklin County, however, fell far short of supporting itself.

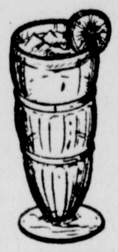

The Franklin Local district carried only 4.5 mills against its tax valuation of $13,493,000 in current operating expenses and dragged down $26,270 in "additional" aid. Its total state support for 896 pupils was $119,704.

Neighboring Fayette County matched Pickaway County's $30 per pupil "additional" aid figure according to the report, although all of its districts shared in the extra monies.

About 3,000 road signs are lost through vandalism in Colorado alone each year.

PICKAWAY County schools boasted an average daily membership of 5,335 pupils with a per pupil state support of approximately $84. The county's state aid total was $449,848, plus $159,298 in "additional" aid.

Circleville Township Local, although having no schools in operation, carried a total millage of 7.35 mills against its $559,000 duplicate to pay tuition for its pupils. It received only $907 in state aid in behalf of its tuition pupils, most of whom entered Circleville schools.

Highest local per pupil "additional" aid average in Pickaway County was paid to Saltcreek Local, which was awarded $66 per pupil.

Saltcreek applied a millage of 8.70 against its $1,781,000 duplicate, however, while sponsoring another 2 mills in its debt retirement.

In all, Saltcreek received $33,539 in regular state aid and $18,122 in "additional" aid, according to the report.

Franklin Local district in Franklin County, however, fell far short of supporting itself.

The Franklin Local district carried only 4.5 mills against its tax valuation of $13,493,000 in current operating expenses and dragged down $26,270 in "additional" aid. Its total state support for 896 pupils was $119,704.

Neighboring Fayette County matched Pickaway County's $30 per pupil "additional" aid figure according to the report, although all of its districts shared in the extra monies.

Only one of the Fayette County districts—that of Washington C. H.—carried more than 10 mills against its valuation in current operation.

About 3,000 road signs are lost through vandalism in Colorado alone each year.
